B52s Continue Hitting North's Trucks, Depots

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Waves of U.S. B52 bombers raided North Viet Nam today for the third time in four days.

The huge bombers, flying above the weather, struck again in the southern end of North Viet Nam just a few miles north of the demilitarized zone.

Several Hits

The bombers hit Communist infiltration routes, truck parks and storage depots.

Smaller U.S. tactical bombers gave the once-demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam a going over, pounding seven North Vietnamese storage areas in the zone.

In South Viet Nam, ground fighting was small and scattered.

The crack South Korean Tiger Division ended a six-month-old operation and promptly launched a new one. Simultaneously, Australian troops terminated their current operation and the U.S. command announced that the recently arrived 196th Light Infantry was in action for the first time.

The U.S. command said the total number of U.S. planes lost over North Viet Nam, as of Friday, was 385.

Grand Jury Will Grill Mafia Men Arrested in Raid

By JOHN VINOCUR

NEW YORK (AP) — Thirteen Cosa Nostra figures, warned not to stray far after their release in $1.3-million bail, have the weekend to decide what they will tell a grand jury delving into their crime syndicate activities.

The 13, representing Mafia control points around the country, are to be questioned by a Queens County panel Monday on the current distribution of syndicate power and changes within its hierarchy.

Two Witnesses Called

The grand jury heard two witnesses Friday, one of them the owner of the Forest Hills, Queens, restaurant where police found the Mafiosi meeting Thursday at a steak and lasagna banquet table. The identity of the second witness was not disclosed.

Chief Inspector Sanford Garelik, who directed the raid, said it was apparent from the importance of the 13 and the distances they had traveled that "matters of national importance" to the crime syndicate were under discussion.

Garelik called the roundup the most important since state police broke up a Mafia convention involving 60 top hoodlums and their friends at Apalachin, N.Y. in 1957.

Speculate on Agenda

At the top of the current agenda, police sources speculated, was parcelling out the territory of Gaetano (Three Fingers Brown) Luchese, the ailing 66-year-old boss of the powerful New York Luchese "family."

Families Suing Area Officials For Racial Bias

NEW YORK (AP) — The city of Poughkeepsie, its mayor, board of education, common council and its urban renewal project have become the targets of a federal court suit by a lawyer representing seven Negro families who claim existence of a "neighborhood school policy" that assigns pupils on a basis of race.

Paul B. Zuber, of Croton-on-Hudson, N.Y., filed the action, and perpetuating a racially segregated school system.

Zuber also asked the court to halt the use of federal funds for the city's urban renewal program, arguing that federal policy fortifies projects that continue or create "patterns of racial segregation."

Raps Policy

"The city of Poughkeepsie maintains its public school system on the basis of a neighborhood school policy," Zuber said.

Charges of "inaccuracies" and "mis-statements" today were hurled at Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan by John J. Naccarato, president of the Central Businessmen's Association, in a letter replying to comments made by the mayor about low assessments and equalization rates on Broadway properties.

On Thursday Mayor Garraghan said that unless the city "assesses properly" it will lose its equalization rate gain. In a letter to Naccarato, who is also Third Ward alderman, the mayor expressed "surprise" that the association president does "not understand assessments and equalization rates."

In his reply to Garraghan, Naccarato said, "it is quite obvious that you do not understand equalization rates and also that you are following your usual course of misleading, misstating and deceiving."

Naccarato's letter to Garraghan follows:

"Your insulting letter which appeared in The Freeman last Thursday evening attempting to defend the increase in assessments on Broadway properties runs true to form. It is full of inaccuracies and misstatements. First, you state that the First Federal Savings and Loan Asso-

Want More Aides To Follow Leads

KENILWORTH, Ill. (AP) — Efforts to come up with a solid lead in the murder of Valerie Percy intensified today as Police Chief Robert Daley asked for more investigators to help check out the many tips pouring into his office.

Fingerprints found in the Percy home, a bayonet—termed by Daley as the "possible" murder weapon—and the results of a lie detector test were being studied by the Chicago Crime Laboratory.

Bayonet Not Linked

Earlier, a Chicago police crime laboratory technician said the bayonet, with a 10-inch blade and a 4-inch handle produced no physical evidence linking the bayonet to the crime.

However, Capt. Daniel Dragel, head of the crime laboratory which is working with Kenilworth police and other agencies, said that he expected that examination of all physical evidence in the case would be completed by Wednesday. He said a complete report would be issued by the laboratory at that time.

"I'm going to ask for help from a great number of sources," Daley said Friday night at a news conference. "We're calling in more help so we can cut down the hours of the men in the field."

Says Roosevelt Twice Tried to Secure Donation

NEW YORK (AP) — Martin Tannanbaum, president of Yonkers Raceway, says Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. twice tried to get him to contribute to his campaign to win the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Roosevelt, Liberal party candidate for governor, emphatically denies it.

Tannanbaum said Friday the first request which came from Roosevelt for a contribution this year was in March at a luncheon in a Bronx steakhouse.

The second, Tannanbaum said, came indirectly in July when "Roosevelt called Charlie Buckley (Bronx Democratic leader) and asked him if he'd call me and get me to give a contribution."

Buckley was out of town and unavailable for comment.

Nixon Forecasts Five More Years For U.S. in Viet

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Former Vice-President Richard M. Nixon contends that at the present rate, it will take the United States five more years to end the war in Viet Nam.

He says it is up to the Republicans to show the way to shorten the war without appeasement.

Speaking to about 1,000 persons at a dinner winding up the Nebraska Republican Convention Friday night, Nixon contended that five more years of war would also bring the nation more casualties than its fighting forces suffered in Korea.

Says New Federal Law to Ease Area Mortgage Monies

New restrictions on all financial institutions announced this week by Federal Banking Agencies will be of considerable help to the economy of the Kingston area, George Rusk, president of the Kingston Trust Co., said today.

In a statement issued right after President Johnson signed the new law fixing all money rates, Rusk explained that the payment of higher rates by certain banks in New York City and Long Island drained large sums of money from this area this past year. The expansion in the area—requiring local funds was thus hampering the flotation of business loans and mortgage money by local banks.

"We feel this money will now come back, and business people, real estate brokers and home buyers and builders will now be in a better position to carry on," Rusk emphasized.

"The Kingston Trust Co.," he explained has been paying 5 per cent on certificates of deposit on one-year time deposits of $2,500 or more. This is now the highest rate allowed by law that commercial banks may pay on deposits of $100,000 or less.

"We intend to continue that policy and rate here at all of our offices. Out-of-town, big-city banks can pay no better."

"Therefore," he pointed out, "we are in a position to keep local money where it belongs—here."

"Because we at the Kingston Trust Company commended our interest rate annually on deposits for more than one year, and because of the other mentioned reasons, we sincerely believe (Continued on Page 5, Col. 2)

Dieffenbaker Claims Pearson Made Same Security Decision

OTTAWA (AP) — Former Canadian Prime Minister John G. Dieffenbaker, accused of putting personal judgment ahead of national security in the Munsinger sex-and-security case, has charged that Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson did the same thing in an earlier security case.

The accusation against Dieffenbaker, 71-year-old Conservative leader, was made Friday by Supreme Court Justice Wishart Spence in his report on the government-ordered hearings into the 1960 scandal.

The judge said Dieffenbaker should have fired his then associate defense minister, Pierre Seguin, who had a liaison with Gerda Munsinger, a one-time self-admitted Soviet espionage agent.

He said the liaison created a security risk and made Seguin vulnerable to pressure from foreign agents or the Montreal underworld, where the affair was common knowledge and "known to Mrs. Munsinger's fellow prostitutes."

Dieffenbaker, who was in Boston, Mass., when the report was issued, charged it was "simply a political hatchet job from start to finish." He added that in an earlier security case Pearson did not put national security first.

As foreign secretary in charge of diplomatic service in 1951, Pearson accepted responsibility for keeping Herbert Norman in his department after a security check revealed Norman had had Communist associations in the 1930s.

In 1957 Pearson acknowledged Norman's prior Communist associations, but said he had abandoned them voluntarily by 1939 when he joined the Foreign Affairs department.

Norman committed suicide April 4, 1957, while serving as Canadian ambassador to Egypt, after a U.S. Senate committee revived charges of communism against him. The case led to an exchange of harsh words between the United States and Canada. Louis St. Laurent was Canadian prime minister at the time.

Dieffenbaker, who dined Friday night at the home of the Canadian consul to Boston, said he would return to Canada today or Sunday and would reply further "when I have a chance to see the report."

In his 93-page report, Justice Spence said:

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.

(AP) — The United States refused today to give up on its latest peace proposals to North Viet Nam despite Hanoi's assertion that they were a hypocritical coverup for military escalation.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, who made the proposals in the U.N. General Assembly Thursday, told reporters he did not consider Hanoi's reaction "to be a considered reply. It is public propaganda."

Will Try Again

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, meanwhile, was to have a chance to follow up the proposals privately at a dinner tonight given by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

The talks between the two started Thursday — when Gromyko was Rusk's dinner guest.

Neither side would say what they meant to discuss, but their subjects seemed likely to include Viet Nam, European security, disarmament, prevention of the spread of nuclear weapons and a treaty for peaceful exploration of outer space.

The meeting was to be the first since Gromyko denounced Goldberg's proposals in the assembly's general debate Friday.

Both Gromyko and Hanoi demanded Friday that the United States stop bombing North Viet Nam and withdraw its troops from South Viet Nam. Hanoi (Continued on Page 5, Col. 4)

Dutchess Sheriff Backs D.A. on Leary Release

Dutchess County Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan today agreed with District Attorney John R. Heilman on the district attorney's decision to drop possession of narcotics charges against Dr. Timothy Leary, promoter of the hallucinatory drug LSD.

Sheriff Quinlan agreed with the decision saying, "We probably couldn't convict him anyway after that June 13 Supreme Court ruling." The sheriff was not as charitable with the ruling itself.

"Since that Supreme Court ruling," he said, "the tide has turned. It's getting so the criminal has more protection than the law abiding citizen."

Arrested Last April

Leary was arrested last April at his home in Millbrook after a raid conducted by Sheriff Quinlan and District Attorney Heilman and their staffs. A great deal of time and work went into the case previous to the arrest of the controversial former Harvard professor. According to Sheriff Quinlan, the Castalia Foundation of Leary's in Millbrook, was under constant surveillance for over a year before the raid.

Under the terms of the agreement, Leary must stop all activity in Dutchess County dealing with drugs. He may, however, maintain his residence in Millbrook.

According to Sheriff Quinlan, the Leary estate in Millbrook will remain under close surveillance by his department.

"Dr. Leary agreed to cease all drug activities in Dutchess County and I and my deputies will make sure he lives up to that promise."

The Associated Press reported that Leary will live quietly on the estate and will transfer his activities to New York City.

Three persons including a New York City couple and a South Glens Falls youth were killed Friday afternoon in separate highway accidents that occurred in Ulster County boosting the county's traffic death toll for 1966 to 47.

State Police identified the dead as:

Eliahu M. Young, 68, of 372 Central Park West, New York City, who died of a crushed chest.

Mrs. Ethel Young, 65, wife of Eliahu, same address, whose death resulted from multiple fractures of the skull and brain lacerations.

Thomas Paul Richmond, 22, of Feeder Dam Road, South Glens Falls, who died of a basal skull fracture.

Out of Control
 The Youngs were killed when their car went out of control and skidded into a culvert off the State Thruway near mile post 92 about one mile north of the Kingston exit.

Richmond was injured fatally when his car was involved in a three-car crash on Route 209 about one half mile west of Hurley. The operators of the other two vehicles were injured and taken to Benedictine Hospital.

According to Thruway State Troopers Peter Warnecke and Thomas Morrissey, Young and his wife were traveling north on the rain-slick pavement of the State Thruway at about 5:20 p. m. when at a point about a mile north of the Kingston exit the driver lost control and the vehicle veered off the east shoulder and into a culvert.

Young and his wife were both pronounced dead at the scene. Ulster County Coroner William S. Keyser, who investigated with troopers at the scene, ruled both deaths accidental.

State Police Sergeant Charles Bundschuh, BCI Investigator Joseph Ventriglia and Trooper J. J. Brainard of the Kingston substation, investigated the Route 209 fatal accident with Coroner Keyser. The mishap occurred during rain at about 4 p. m.

Tried to Pass
 Troopers reported Richmond was driving north and attempting to pass three vehicles going in the same direction when he pulled to the left and was in head-on collision with a south-bound car driven by Harry J. (Continued on Page 9, Col. 3)

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

On Easter Sunday morning, 1939, the Rev. Herman W. Gockel resigned from his church in Evansville, Ind. Due to a throat affliction, it was the end of his career as a minister. But not to Dr. Gockel, for he was determined to put "religion into everyday words for everyday people." Dr. Gockel's life is a great lesson in faith and courage.

Having always been interested in writing, he was soon in a new kind of ministry through newspaper columns, articles, books and hymns. He worked on the editorial staff of a number of Lutheran publications and helped found the St. Louis Lutheran newspaper in 1945. His zeal for reaching the people led him to TV. Since 1951 he has been the program director of the veteran TV religious dramatic series "This is the Life," now in its 15th year, produced by the Television Productions Board of The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. Dr. Gockel relinquished one congregation because he couldn't speak into a microphone. "This is the Life" under his spiritual guidance is seen on 375 stations throughout the United States and Canada. It reaches viewers in an increasing number of countries around the world and is carried on 22 overseas stations of the Armed Forces Radio and Television Service.

Your Life and Mine

CLYDE HERBERT SNELL
A Half-Penny's Worth of Water Glass

Friday, Sept. 9, the flight of Gemini 11 was "scrubbed" (for that day) because of a tiny leak in the fuel system of Titlar 2. According to the news report, the leak, after the experts located it, was repaired "with a gooey substance called 'water glass,' worth less than a penny." A multi-million dollar trip into space had to be postponed because of a malfunction that ultimately was taken care of by less than a penny's worth of fluid plastic.

Life moves, really, on the fullness of small things. Intimate details that we consider insignificant often turn out to be far more determinative than we surmise. Many times the little things that we treat as trifles become the deciding factors in life situations. I once read about an executive in a large firm who was looking for a boy of real promise to take into the organization. He placed a pin on the lush carpet of his office in the spot where all of the boys to be interviewed would have to walk over it. Several of the boys came in—and did not notice it. Finally one boy saw it, and picked it up, putting it on the executive's desk. Needless to say, he got the job.

It is easy to underestimate the social asset of a smile. It may seem quite unimportant to us whether we wear a frown or a cheerful countenance. But to some person in the dregs of loneliness, and the despair that goes with it, a radiant, sincere smile may be a priceless boom to revive the inner spirit of courage and of faith. These lines from the gifted pen of Emily Dickinson are among my favorites: "I'll let my head be just in sight. A smile as small as mine might be

Baptists to Fete Lucinda Healy on Wednesday Night

The smorgasbord will be held at the church, Albany Avenue at Broadway, 6:30 p. m. Miss Healy who retired from teaching in June will be recognized for her more than 75 years of membership, 62 of which were spent in service and leadership. She contributed in no small measure to the advancement of the church and invested faithfully of her time and guidance for young people of the church.

Began Before 1903

Miss Healy began teaching in the church school prior to 1903, her first classes being girls of 9 and 10 years of age. She organized the Sunshine Class, an older group, whom she taught until they were married. Among these were Tressa Nichols Swibold, Nina Weeks Dixon, Ethel Kline Campbell and the late Carrie VanKeuren Eschrich. Later, Miss Healy taught the Philathea Class of young adults and at the time of her retirement she was teaching the Women's Class.

Among the many offices she filled was chairman of the finance committee circa 1910, for the Baptist Young People's Union and was instrumental in the changeover to the Christian Endeavor. Miss Healy also served as lieutenant in the Girl's Scout group sponsored by the First Baptist Church at the time that Miss Ethel Hull was their captain.

At different times she was vice president, then secretary to the Ladies Aid Society; vice president, then president of the Women's Missionary Society; later serving that organization as secretary and treasurer. She was the superintendent and official visitor for the home department of the church school.

At the time the Rev. Donald Brown was pastor of the church, Miss Healy gave freely of her time and assistance to clerical work for the church and continues to devote many hours to these same duties. She is a member of the Afternoon Circle of the Women's Council and presently serves as devotional chairman for that group.

Ellenville Manager

Editor, The Freeman: An opportunity exists coupled with the choice of a new Ellenville village manager which can only be ignored at public expense. Without casting any aspersions on the out-going manager, the fact does stand out like a very sore thumb that many men and women of good will were either justified in blaming him for various things or else these same citizens misunderstood and never became adequately informed regarding quite a few very important village problems. The undersigned believes that, in hiring a new manager, the Ellenville Village Board should have an understanding in advance with such person that he will report direct to our citizenry over local radio station at least once a month and more often yet when such action on his part will tend to prevent unnecessary misunderstandings. The most effective way of getting rid of misunderstandings of the past is to plan better ways for the future. Your truly, MANUEL DITTENHEIMER

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 24, 1966

HUDSON VALLEY PHILHARMONIC

The announcement by the Ulster County Council of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society that concert ticket sales now are ahead of last year's comes as no surprise. The Hudson Valley Philharmonic makes great strides each year in bringing this area live symphony music and distinguished soloists. The recent national acknowledgment is further proof of their excellence and dedication.

The nationwide distinction awarded the Hudson Valley Philharmonic was in the form of a grant of $325,000 from the Ford Foundation which comprised an outright gift of $75,000 over a five-year period and a $250,000 grant to be matched by the Society within five years.

Out of some 170 orchestras in New York State, The Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra was one in nine to have received a grant in the current Ford Foundation program. Of these nine five are located in New York City. In all, 61 grants were made to orchestras in 33 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico. The estimated number of orchestras in the country is 1,450.

These figures bespeak the recognition of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic's growth and excellence and accentuate the fact that the Society's goals, with regard to the future of music, have been harmonious with those of the directors of the Ford Foundation.

Hudson Valley Philharmonic Week will be observed in Kingston September 26 through October 1. During the week, ticket reservations and information on the current series will be available to local music lovers. The Society makes great strides each year in bringing to this area live symphonic music and distinguished soloists. The high elevation of musical culture in the community is evidenced by the appreciation shown this professional orchestra under the capable direction of Claude Monteux.

Because the costs of giving concerts far exceed the income even with sold-out houses, the Society requires financial support. It is the Philharmonic's policy to keep the range of subscription and single ticket prices within the reach of as many as possible.

The Hudson Valley Philharmonic seeks to promote the musical, educational and culture of the valley and to encourage those musically gifted and advance their interests in the world of music.

In addition to maintaining the orchestra, the Society performs other important functions such as the giving of concerts in schools and children's concerts. Without youngsters' interest in orchestral music, there would not be the rapid development in America's music scene.

It isn't necessary to urge full support of this season's concert series, because musical events here always have had the solid support of residents.

However, it is well to remember that any community that provides its people with the beauties of symphonic orchestras is a good place in which to live.

TO RESCUE SPACEMEN

Only a short time ago, the consensus among space experts seemed to be that there was only the slimmest chance of developing an astronaut-rescue system in the near future. The chances may have improved considerably, thanks to a collapsible liferaft which is being developed at General Electric's space technology center.

Most of those involved in the manned space flight program appear to have felt, heretofore, that the problem of saving a stranded astronaut and getting him back to earth was virtually insoluble at present. It was generally thought that the best course—perhaps the only feasible course, given the technical difficulties of a rescue operation—was to concentrate instead on making manned space flight as safe as was humanly possible in the first place.

This will surely continue to be done. However, the liferaft now being perfected offers hope that flight crews may venture into space with a chance of bailing out should something go drastically wrong. The UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (NEA). Peace in Viet Nam is still a dim hope but there is increasing evidence that Russia is again maneuvering quietly to bring the United States and Ho Chi Minh's government to a conference in Geneva.

Only two months ago, Soviet Premier Kosygin told President de Gaulle and the prime ministers of Britain and India that he will make no peace moves without first getting the approval of North Viet Nam.

What made him change his mind? According to diplomats from East Europe, the Hanoi regime has asked Moscow to explore the possibility of peace negotiations on the basis of the 1954 Geneva agreement.

North Viet Nam's President Ho Chi Minh, who received his training as a Communist in Moscow, was always pro-Russian and anti-Chinese. It has long been known in international Communist circles that he does not trust Mao Tse-tung. However, until Communist North Korea, the Japanese Reds and other Asian Communist parties came out openly against Mao's suicidal policy of revolutionary brinkmanship, the North Vietnamese had to play a cautious game in their relations with their powerful Chinese neighbor.

Ho Chi Minh's hands were tied by a pro-Chinese faction in Hanoi which included such powerful men as Premier Pham Van Dong and Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap.

What makes Russia's renewed peace offensive even more significant is the fact that it comes after a secret visit to Moscow by Van Dong and Giap and after the elections in South Viet Nam in which the Viet Cong were repudiated.

But there is still another reason, which overshadows all others, for Moscow's decision to resume the role of an honest peace broker. In the view of the East European diplomats, relations between Russia and Red China have reached a point of no return.

Shortly before his fall from power, Russia's ex-Premier Nikita Khrushchev was ready to break completely with Peking. But his uneasy successors, Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev and Kosygin, tried desperately to patch up their relations with Mao.

Mao, for whom "Sovietism" and "revisionism" represent a betrayal of the true Marxist-Leninist revolution, refused to play their game. Instead, he launched a widespread purge of China's Red elite which, among other things, was designed to eradicate all real or potential pro-Russian elements in China.

While the Soviet leaders were playing for time, Mao, for reasons known only to him, decided to force the final break with Russia.

This is the real historic significance of the Chinese purge and the unprecedented rampage of the teen-aged "Red Guards" under Mao's benign smile.

World communism is now split irrevocably into two hostile camps.

For Mao, it is clear, there is no road back. He decreed that the Russians are the embodiment of all evil and the worst enemies of the revolution. He can no longer consider any joint action with Moscow in Viet Nam or elsewhere except at the risk of demoralizing his supporters.

Judged by the Russian press and recent statements by Romanian, Czechoslovak and Polish Communists, the Soviet leaders have also finally realized that the die has been cast.

After months of vacillation and inertia, they are now free to seize the diplomatic initiative in Southeast Asia without paying lip service to "Comrade Mao Tse-tung."

This does not mean that a peace conference in Viet Nam is around the corner. Moscow is on compelled by Communist ideology to move cautiously. As the self-appointed champions of anticommunism, the Russians must give aid and comfort to North Viet Nam and continue to castigate "imperialist" America even while they maneuver for a peace conference.

Since the 1955 summit conference in Geneva, which perpetuated the division of Germany, the Russians have been convinced that they could gain more concessions from the United States by diplomacy than through military threats.

Tall Tales Take Small
Minds Off Big Ouch

By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When I was six years old I was already a dentist and had a little office out West. And do you know who my best patient was? Buffalo Bill. He and I were good friends. We used to go hunting together.

One day when I was filling a tooth for BB (I used to call him BB for short), the telephone rang and the voice said, "Hiss, hello, hiss. I've got a toothache, hiss, and I want you to fix it, hiss." I knew who it was at once. I could tell by the hisses. It was a snake, so I said, "I'm sorry but I don't take care of snake's teeth." When he heard that the snake got mad and said, "Hiss, I'm coming to get you, Doc, hiss."

I hung up the phone and told BB what the snake said and he said to me: "Don't worry, Herbie (BB called me Herbie). If that snake comes up here I'll take care of him." But we locked the door anyway just to be sure the snake couldn't get in.

Pretty soon we heard the elevator door open, then a hissing noise in the hall and then do you know what happened? That snake came crawling through the little window, over the waiting room door, which we forgot to close.

When BB saw the snake crawling down, tall first, he whipped out his six-shooter and fired 13 times, each time shooting a rattle off the snake's tail. You see, the snake was 13 years old. He grew a little rattle every year.

Gosh, I felt sorry for old snakey. He looked so bare without his tail. So do you know what I did? I patted back every one of those rattles and the snake was so happy he said he wanted to be my friend. That's how come one of my best friends is a snake.

That's the end of the story. And it always ends when the filling is completed. "Spit please" brings the little patient back to reality.

Telling humorous adventure stories is as good as "novocain" for some young patients; it fascinates them. Some dentists entertain with records and some even show movies. These are dentists who are interested in children and their dental problems.

"How can I select the right dentist for my child?" many mothers ask. Besides usual criteria of ability, cleanliness, kindly manner, convenient location, reasonable fees, etc., and short of psychoanalyzing both child and dentist to see if their personalities jibe, FIND OUT:

● What kind of a man am I trusting my child to?
● Does he like children in his office, or does he get annoyed and nervous?
● Does he have things in his waiting room that children can identify with, such as toys, books, children's pictures on the wall, drawing paper and crayons, small furniture, etc.?
● Then, put the $64 question to him: "Doctor, do you like to work on children?"

equipment uses plastics to absorb the heat of re-entry, in addition to quick-hardening foam which would give the liferaft structural stability and also serve as an inner heat shield to protect the astronaut. The device is said to be capable of landing on either ground or water.

Doubtless a good deal of work remains to be done on this equipment, but its inventors believe that they could have it ready for a space test within a year. The project appears sufficiently promising to justify generous government support.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

As the Administration's wage-price guideposts collapsed after determined assaults by a horde of challengers — including the steel industry which hiked prices $2 a ton—observers couldn't help comparing President Johnson's performance with that of his predecessor under fairly similar conditions.

Coming as it did shortly after the machinists rejected the proposed airline strike settlement, the steel increase perhaps caught the President by surprise.

But in 1962, the late John F. Kennedy was also taken unawares when Roger Blough, chairman of the board at U.S. Steel, announced the decision to raise prices $6 a ton. When five other companies followed suit, Kennedy reacted vigorously.

The Defense Department began shifting purchases to companies which had not raised prices. The Justice Department started inquiries into whether the companies had violated antitrust laws, and the Federal Trade Commission announced an investigation to see whether they had broken price-fixing regulations.

U.S. Steel surrendered 72 hours later, rescinding the hike. Soon thereafter, Blough was summoned to the White House for a chat with the President. When asked Arthur Schlesinger Jr. asked how the conversation had gone, Kennedy—an avid student of the Civil War—replied: "I told him that his men could keep their horses for the spring plowing."

Gossip Taking Wide Range In New Post for Katzenbach

WASHINGTON — When a member of the cabinet resigns to accept a subordinate post under another cabinet officer and at the same time has to take a cut of $5,000 a year in salary, there is bound to be an arching of eyebrows all over the capital.

Certainly if this happened anywhere else in government or business, it would be assumed that someone was being demoted. But President Johnson, at his news conference, said: "As far as I am concerned, he (Katzenbach) is not concerned with title or promotions or demotions. He is concerned with serving the interests of the nation."

Lacks Persuasiveness

While this is a tactful observation, it doesn't have a ring of persuasiveness because, in the first place, Mr. Katzenbach has to all intents and purposes been doing a good job as attorney general and actually has little familiarity with the operations of the Department of State, where he is to become the No. 2 executive.

So the gossip takes a very wide range. Some people hereabouts think that President Johnson was determined to make a change at the head of the Department of Justice and that, while he is not particularly dissatisfied with Mr. Katzenbach's services, he wanted to get an entirely different personality to help manage the department.

Originally Mr. Katzenbach was appointed by the late President Kennedy as deputy attorney general. In 1965, when Robert F. Kennedy resigned as attorney general, President Johnson appointed Mr. Katzenbach to succeed him.

Naturally there is speculation as to whether the involvement of Mr. Katzenbach in the Civil Rights problem may have had some adverse reactions. There are those who think he has been too aggressive in his enforcement of the Civil Rights laws and not sufficiently flexible to take account of the various political reactions in this kind of controversy.

Indeed, as the presidential campaign of 1968 approaches, President Johnson may feel that he needs as attorney general someone with a good deal of maverick ability.

It is true that Mr. Katzenbach was professor of international law at the University of Chicago from 1956 to 1961, but he has had no experience in the making of foreign policy. If the President was really looking for someone with expert knowledge in the international field, he had available in the government itself many other men, particularly in the foreign service, from whom he could have made a selection.

Nothing has been said as to whether Secretary Rusk was consulted in advance and made a recommendation of his own. It is natural to assume that, if the second man in any department makes a good record, he will be eligible for appointment to the top post when there is a vacancy. But if Secretary Rusk should resign, the general feeling here is that Ambassador Goldberg is likely to take his place.

As for the new attorney general, speculation immediately arose as to whether Ramsey Clark of Texas, Mr. Katzenbach's deputy who now becomes acting attorney general, will be given the nomination. The President was asked at his news conference whether the fact that the father of the deputy attorney general is on the Supreme Court would rule out his son for the top place in the department. The President replied:

"I won't get into that. I haven't made any decision on that, as I have said to you before."

The ambiguity of the answer is in itself significant. For where there is any "conflict of interest" in cases that come before the justices, they usually rule themselves out. It would be impracticable for associate justice Tom Clark to do so, because every case for or against the federal government that comes before the highest court involves the Department of Justice in some manner. Maybe Justice Clark has planned to retire anyway, as he will be 67 years old this week and has been on the high court nearly 17 years.

Many justices of the Supreme Court in the past who had previously served as attorney general have disqualified themselves from taking any case in which they may have had a part when serving either as attorney general or solicitor general or in any other governmental capacity.

So far as the public is concerned, the most important question is whether the Department of State has been strengthened or weakened by the change, and whether President Johnson has in mind a capable man to run the Department of Justice. Is he counting perhaps on an attorney general of the politically minded type? There have been too many in this category in the past under both Republican and Democratic administrations.

1,000 Jehovah's Witnesses Hear Auditorium Talk

Nearly 1,000 of Jehovah's witnesses convened Friday night at Municipal Auditorium, Kingston, to hear Mr. J. D. Wengert, district supervisor of the group, commence their semi-annual circuit assembly.

Wengert spoke on the timely subject of family worship. "Young folks in particular," stated Wengert, "are subjected to almost constant pressures from a delinquent world. We want to fortify them and help them to cope with these." Following the opening remarks of Wengert, a typical ministry school was demonstrated. Following this was a discourse, "A Sound Spiritual Heritage of Youth," delivered by Franklin Park, Circuit Supervisor of Jehovah's witnesses locally. In conclusion, the popular television film documentary entitled "Heritage" was shown, which dealt particularly with the problems of today's youth.

Today's meeting will be highlighted by a baptismal discourse at 1:30 p. m. which Wengert will preside over, with baptism of participants immediately following. The evening session will begin at 6:45 p. m. featuring the full length color film "God Cannot Lie."

Tomorrow concludes the three-day gathering of the 17 congregations drawn from a seven county area. Peak attendance of over 1,200 Witnesses and friends are expected at the 3 p. m. public lecture, "Satisfying Mankind's Greatest Need," followed by District Supervisor Wengert.

Wengert stated that "all members of the surrounding communities are invited and all meetings are free and open to the public."

Also arrested were Carlos Marcello, 56, a southern Mafia boss, and his brother Joseph, 42. Seized in addition were Santo Trafficante, 51, now considered the top Mafia executive in Florida; Aniello Della Croce, Anthony Corrallo, Frank Gagliano, Dom Alongi, Anthony Carillo and Joseph Gallo.

Difienbaker said the report was what he had expected, but described it as an attempt "at political assassination" by Pearson. He said no security question was involved, as he had insisted all along.

Sevigny, who has not been in the government since Pearson took over in 1963, said in Montreal: "I am not a security risk and I never was."

"Mr. Tannanbaum's statement is an obvious lie because I have charged now for over two months that he was the architect of the (Frank D.) Roosevelt has contended that Tannanbaum was at a meeting in July, 1965, when party "bosses" allegedly made a "deal" to give O'Connor the nomination for governor this year. All participants in the meeting have denied the charge.

O'Connor issued a statement Friday saying: "I make the following pledge: I will not accept any source directly or indirectly connected with race-track or liquor interests."

Rocky Endorsed
Meanwhile, incumbent Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller Friday won endorsement from New York City's 10,500-member Uniformed Firemen's association, the fourth city labor group to support the Republican governor's bid for a third term.

O'Connor countered the announcement by saying that Democratic Comptroller Arthur Levitt was "the only champion" of the firemen and policemen in Albany and that Rockefeller had resisted many of Levitt's proposals to aid firemen and policemen.

In Buffalo Friday, another labor group, the 1,300-member AFL-CIO Painters, District Council 4, endorsed Rockefeller for re-election.

In the past week, Rockefeller also has drawn support from the New York City Electrical Workers, Building and Construction Trades Council and the Building Service Employees Joint Council.

According to a report filed with city police after the mishap, Sonnenberg was stopped for a red traffic light when the 1965 suburban operated by Gotelli skidded on wet pavement and was in collision with the suburban driven by Sonnenberg.

Senators Say War

of Defense Robert S. McNamara said this week it is too early to estimate the size of the supplemental request.

Scranton said Johnson "talked in terms" of a $10 billion increase in Viet Nam spending when he met with the seven governors — four Democrats and three Republicans — to discuss his hopes for a cutback of at least $3 billion in government spending in an effort to ease inflationary pressures.

Many of these programs involve federal aid for construction projects which the states plan and carry out, such as highway building.

The President said he asked the governors for no commitments and that none were given.

He said he told the governors "they will be getting less funds than they normally could be expecting in grants-in-aid to the states" and that he asked the executives to evaluate their plans and "be as helpful as possible."

Talking to reporters after the meeting, the governors were cautious in making any estimates as to how much their state programs might be slowed up.

Gov. John Volpe of Massachusetts said his state would have to be careful in reducing expenditures to make sure there is no stalling of its economy.

Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey said he would confer with his cabinet on steps that might be taken to cut back on spending.

But he said some projects, such as the planned expansion of the northern 30 miles of the New Jersey Turnpike, were impossible to hold up.

Governors at the meeting were Democrats Hughes, Hulet Smith of West Virginia, John B. Connally of Texas and Grant Sawyer of Nevada, and Republicans Volpe, Scranton and James A. Rhodes of Ohio.

Zuber asserted that Poughkeepsie assigned pupils for years "not on the basis of sound education practices but rather on social and economic basis."

"At the outset, the separation was on economic status. . . . In succeeding years the defendants perpetuated this policy. As the economic status of the white family changed they (sic) moved to new school districts. The Negro pupil, no matter what the improvement of the economic status of his family was compelled to remain in school districts which were designated by the board of education and which the Board of Education knew were becoming racially segregated."

The complaint said that Poughkeepsie has three public schools "which are or are in the process of becoming racially segregated schools. . . ."

Zuber said that Poughkeepsie's educators filed a voluntary compliance with the civil rights act of 1965, making the school system eligible for federal aid, although "they are nevertheless willfully and intentionally a racially segregated public school system."

Allot Kingston $1,192,126 State Aid for Schools
A gross payment of $1,192,126 is the Kingston Consolidated School District's share of the first apportionment of state aid for the school year 1966-67. With deductions for retirement payments, the net amounts to $1,167,603.16.

Another payment will be received by the smaller superintendency districts in the county totaling $2,328,611. The figures represent the first payment in school aid for the Kingston Consolidated District which will total more than $4 million for the full school year of 1966-67.

The figures are based on statistics compiled for the 1965-66 school year.

According to State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, the amounts allotted to the county school districts including Kingston City Schools, are part of $350,016,557 being distributed to school districts throughout the state as the initial payment in school aid.

Goldberg told the assembly Thursday that, as a first step toward peace negotiations the United States was "prepared to order a cessation of all bombing of North Viet Nam the moment" it got assurance that North Viet Nam would respond by reducing or ending its military activities in South Viet Nam.

He asked if North Viet Nam would respond to such a step and would agree to "a phased withdrawal" of all foreign troops from South Viet Nam, including American and North Vietnamese.

The proposals seemed in line with the first two points of U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant's three-point peace plan: cessation of the bombing of the north and scaling down of all military operations in the south.

Thant's third point is a willingness of all parties to negotiate with those "actually fighting" and Goldberg said the Viet Cong, as "a combatant force" should take part in the negotiations.

Says Jean Arthur Was Incentive to Produce Shows

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Why did a successful movie director like Richard Quine become a television producer?

"Jean Arthur," he answers simply. "All they did was drop that name in front of me, and I fell to my knees. I had never known anybody that didn't love her on the screen, and I was a long-time fan myself."

"Also, television presented a challenge. Like a lot of people, I have been stupefied by what I saw on the home screen. I felt compelled to see if I could do any better."

The results on "The Jean Arthur Show" are not in yet. The reviews are what you might call mixed, some critics applauding the actress' return, some reporting that the vehicle was not up to her talents.

"I can understand how some of them felt. If I had been merely watching the show at home I might have been of the same opinion," said Quine. "But they were comparing her with the Jean Arthur who appeared opposite Gary Cooper, Jimmy Stewart and Ronald Colman."

Quine is a former MGM juvenile who still looks youthful in his mid-40s despite a recession of his blond locks. He retains a boyish enthusiasm for his work, but he admitted that he didn't know what he was getting into when he tackled television.

"It is a terrifying kind of involvement," he remarked. "It takes me a year to make a movie, from the start of the script to the final cutting and scoring. But in television we put out 23 minutes and 30 seconds of entertainment every week."

"I think we've done rather well. You can't accomplish what you can in features, but we have tried to maintain a standard. The only way to do it is by total dedication, and that is an exhausting process of belaboring the writers to get them to provide the material we need."

Quine recently finished the multistar "Hotel" and has other movie projects under way. "Going back to features," he sighed, "will be like a vacation."

Matuk Is Jailed On Drunk Driving

A pre-dawn accident in Highland, which involved three cars and resulted in no injuries, led to the arrest of a 27-year-old Poughkeepsie man this morning on charges of driving while intoxicated, according to State Police at the Highland barracks.

Donald Matuk, of 20 Mocking Bird Lane, Poughkeepsie, was committed to Ulster County jail, following his arrest, in lieu of $100 bail, after an appearance before Justice of Peace Lewis DiStasi, Town of Lloyd.

The accident in which Matuk was involved occurred at 3:50 a. m. today on Route 44-55, Highland. Pulling from a private driveway on Route 44-55, police said Matuk struck a car owned and operated by John Charron Jr., 32, of 8 Rymph Boulevard, Poughkeepsie. The Charron vehicle, proceeding west on Route 44-55 at the time of the collision, was struck on the left side at a right angle. Matuk's car kept traveling east on the road after hitting the Charron vehicle and hit another car which was parked on the south shoulder of the same road. The parked car was owned by Arthur Lindsley, 11 Ash Avenue, Hyde Park. Troopers said.

Neither driver suffered injuries, but Matuk's arrest on drunken driving charges will result in a preliminary hearing Oct. 1 at 7:30 p. m.

Food Seems to Go to Her Head

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I just have to lose weight or I will go crazy. I have tried starving, dieting (with and without a doctor's supervision), exercise, pills, shots — nothing works.

I even started smoking INSTEAD of eating. I did lose weight, but I got so nervous I couldn't sleep at night, so I had a hypnotist treat me for smoking. He got me off cigarettes, but I started to drink like a fish. By the time he cured me of drinking I was my old fat self again.

Last evening was the payoff. My husband took me to a dress-up affair. I wore a girdle that pushed my spare tire UP, and a bra that pushed it DOWN. I was in agony until I went to the powder room and took everything off underneath. When I zipped my dress up, the zipper broke, the seams split, and, of course, we had to go home. PLEASE, PLEASE help me!

DEAR "FAT": It's back to the doctor for you! And this time listen carefully, take his advice, and no cheating! And if HE sends you to a psychiatrist, go. What you put in your mouth is all in your head.

DEAR ABBY: Just one question: How does a mother part with her child when an institution for the incurably handicapped is the only answer?

A MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: She prays for the wisdom and strength to put aside all thoughts of herself, and to consider only what is best for her child.

DEAR ABBY: My sister sent us her 19-year-old daughter to get a job in this city. She has been here since the 2nd of June and has gone job hunting only once. She claims she can't find anything. This girl is big and strong. She

They are pictured with Mrs. Emma Argulewicz, in whose sixth grade English class at Reginald R. Bennett School two years ago they wrote the short stories. Miss Van de Bogart's story is a fairy tale entitled "My Visit to Elvessville," in which she uses vivid imagery to relate the main character's experiences in the Land of Elves. Miss Every's story is called "The Ugly Flower," and is a tale with a moral wherein a weed-like flower rises above the ridicule of her colleagues to emerge a rare and exquisite blossom. ## America's Poor, Easy Prey to Deceptive Sales, Credit Schemes

In the following article, Kenneth B. Willson, president of the National Better Business Bureau, outlines some of the callous ways in which these unsophisticated consumers are victimized.

If being poor isn't trouble enough it can also mean paying more for goods than middle-income people and falling easy prey to a multitude of sales and credit schemes.

All the unscrupulous marketing tactics which from time to time have been practiced against the ordinary consumer are used against America's 34 million poor, and with far more devastating effects. With no surplus funds, the poor are not able to shrug off the episode and chalk it up to experience.

In reports to NBBB, Better Business Bureaus throughout the country have detailed a catalog of food freezer plan gimmicks, bogus "contests," home improvement schemes, pest control rackets, television "bait" ads and other techniques used to victimize people who are financially-strapped and often economically illiterate.

Unable to obtain loans through conventional sources and not eligible for established credit, the poor are forced to purchase on "easy-payment-no-money-down" terms bristling with hidden carrying charges. They may wind up paying a mark-up as high as 400 per cent for a shoddy product that won't last half the time it takes to pay it off.

Not eligible for installment contracts in the large department stores and discount houses outside the neighborhoods the poor do their shopping very largely in those small local stores where the atmosphere is familiar and the price is higher.

Here they can get "instant credit" but are often burdened with carrying charges that range as high as 81 per cent. As documented by Better Business Bureaus, these are some of the ways in which the poor wind up a good deal poorer:

In New Orleans, an aged couple, living on Social Security of $92 a month, was charged $3,000 for a $1,500 aluminum siding job, plus interest of $1,500, or a total of $4,500.

In Baltimore, a welfare recipient with seven children was charged $314 for a stereo set.

In the Greensboro, N. C., area, a couple was told by a "home improvement" company that it would advance them $500 to pay their debts, put aluminum siding on their house and make other improvements, all for $1,900. The couple found themselves obligated to pay 84 monthly installments of $48.36 each, or a total of $4,062.24. The house was valued for tax purposes at $4,800.

The poor are particularly vulnerable to colorful, prize-giving ads in newspapers and direct mail pieces that create the illusion of low weekly or monthly terms. And to the blandishments of credit retailers of jewelry, used cars, clothes, furniture, appliances, etc., who assure them that they welcome customers whose credit ratings are not the best.

In these cases, repossessions are high and many poor people have had their small incomes garnished or have lost their jobs where employers could not be bothered with garnishments.

The capacity of the poor to protect themselves against fraud and deception is limited. They may be unaware of their legal rights or how to protect them and completely helpless in the face of the legal machinery that can be set in motion against them once they have signed installment sales contracts.

One woman purchased two bureaus, two beds and a dinette set without carefully examining the installment contract. Under the impression that the furniture cost $400, she was actually charged over $1,000.

A man purchased a television set for $398, plus $108 in carrying charges, for a total of $506. A later check showed the manufacturer's list price was $199 and that, in fact, the same set could have been bought from reputable dealers for as little as $170. Sold with the understanding it was the latest model, the $398 set was actually a year old.

Given the facts that the many poor people are not newspaper readers and are probably substantially illiterate, the job of alerting them to the perils of the market place is exceedingly difficult.

For their part the nation's Better Business Bureaus have sought to eliminate the false and misleading advertising and sales practices directed particularly at unsophisticated consumers. Some Bureaus have conducted consumer information and other special projects in low-income communities.

The plight of the poor is also the subject of growing federal and community concern. There have been these suggestions:

—Consumer education projects that are part of comprehensive programs directed at the poor, particularly such federally-aided programs as community action, elementary and secondary education, adult literacy, etc.

—Legal representation for low-income families.

—Organized pressure on unscrupulous merchants.

Six Handy Banking Units in Area

The State of New York National Bank, a leading area banking system, has consistently over a long period of years allotted the major portion of its advertising budget to the purchase of newspaper advertising space as the best means of emphasizing its unusual range of customer conveniences.

The Bank, founded in 1853 by a progressive group of Kingston citizens who felt that the community deserved an expanded type of banking service, has in the interim grown to a total of six handy banking units spread from the Town of Ulster to New Paltz. The latest addition to the family, the new Midtown Branch at 80 Smith Avenue scheduled for opening this fall, joins the main office at 301 Wall Street, the Consumer Credit Office at 300 Wall Street and the Kingston Shopping Plaza Branch within the City of Kingston. Total assets of the Bank are approaching the $40,000,000-00 level. Most gratifying to the Bank, however, is the constantly increasing public recognition of the fact that it is "the bank designed with public convenience in mind," a truism that is featured through the multiplicity of unusual services (top interest rates on savings, lowest interest rates on loans, 9 a. m. through 5 p. m. daily open hours) as consistently advertised in newspaper columns and handled by adman Henry P. Eighmey, pictured.

Shipments of Fuel Oil and Kerosene

Based on an analysis of the U. S. Bureau of Mines' Report, "Shipments of Fuel Oil Kerosene" in the United States, 1965 consumption of distillate heating and range oil hit an all-time high in 1965, it was reported today by the Hudson Valley Oil Heat Council, Inc., an association of fuel oil dealers in Ulster, Dutchess, Sullivan and Orange Counties.

Consumption totalled 553,180,000 barrels, an increase of 6.1% over the preceding year, the Council said. Only part of the increase was due to the fact that the weather was about 2.5% colder than 1964. According to the Bureau of Mines' report, "Degree day changes alone accounted for less than half of the 19,000,000 barrel increase in No. 2 distillate heating oil and the 13,000,000 barrel increase in range oil and No. 1 distillate heating oil. The balance came primarily from the 168,500 net additions to the number of distillate oil burners installed in centrally heated homes throughout the U. S., from the 216,000 new mobile homes, the majority of which are oil heated, and from diverse other uses, both residential and commercial, all of which registered increases in 1965."

The Middle Atlantic area, the largest regional market in the U. S., accounted for 199,662,000 barrels, an increase of 5.6%, with the New England area showing an increase of 10.1%.

Hudson Valley Oil Heat Council, Inc. advertising and the above account are both serviced by adman Robert L. Bain, pictured.

Questions and Answers About Advertising

Q—Is advertising today honest?

A: We answer with a quote from an advertising man: "Advertising has to be honest. The job of selling a woman you never see, in an unknown store, a product she doesn't know would be impossible without confidence, trust, and honesty. In Marco Polo days, traders were beheaded for misrepresentation. Today, if the advertising is bad—and little is—customers have a comparable cease-and-desist power. They can stop buying."

High School Debuts With Smashing 18-0 Win Over Albany

Boggs, Bowens, Dugan Tally Touchdowns

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

It was a perfect night. Clarence Rowland, the man most responsible for upgrading football at Kingston High was honored. More than 2,000 persons were in the stands under ideal conditions. Then, the Kingston High team played a near flawless game and rocked Albany High, the defending Capital District champion, 18-0, in its debut.

Coach Bill Hurley, who generally paces the sidelines like an expectant mother, was obviously quite elated and saved his shoe leather as the Maroon gridders completely dominated this one from beginning to end.

The upstarts made only two trips past midfield and each time, a tenacious KHS defense sent them back on their heels. It couldn't have been a more impressive victory.

Three Players Score

Kingston's scoring was divided among three players. Captain Gerard Boggs, who played fullback as if he were born to the position, dove over from the three in the second quarter.

On the final play of the first half, end Tim Bowens swiped an Albany pass and ran 55 yards to pay dirt. The last TD was a scintillating 35 yard run by halfback Bill Dugan.

In between, the Maroon team had other chances. An apparent first period touchdown pass was called back because of a penalty. On other occasions, a drive was stopped, but only after it had moved deep into AHS territory.

Tackle Bill Kidd pounced on a Garnet fumble early in the first half and the fired-up home club had a first down on the 24.

After Dugan had plunged to the 21, quarterback Pete Watzka, playing his first varsity game, hit end Jack Baltz for an apparent touchdown. However, a KHS lineman was detected offside and the score was nullified.

Poor Punt Helps

Just before the end of the quarter, a poor Albany punt was downed on the 37. From there the winners marched to paydirt, eating up the yardage in 12 attempts. It was straight ahead football, aided by crisp blocking.

Boggs, needing 11 yards for a first down, made the yardage on a fourth down play to ignite the surge. The hard charging fullback also picked up nine on another carry, moving the pigskin to the 15 at the end of the stanza.

Dugan took it to the seven in two whacks at the start of the second quarter and Boggs made the other yardage in two attempts. Dugan's attempted placement hit the crossbar and bounced back.

The visitors started their only sustained drive on the ensuing kickoff. They put the ball in play on the 35 and picked up two of their four first downs. However, halfback Talbert Robinson, who was stopped all evening by the hard charging KHS defense, was stopped on the 25. It was the closest the upstarts came for the rest of the night.

With time running out in the opening half, the Garnet was forced to take to the air. Quarterback Gordon Brandt, given a hard rush by Jack Baltz and Bowens, the two defensive ends, was forced to throw without stopping to look.

Key Interception

Bowens stuck up his big paws, found the ball nestled in them, and outraced everybody into the end zone. The play covered 55 yards and time ran out as Bowens was scoring. Dugan was wide with his PAT attempt.

With a 12-0 lead in the bank, Hurley and assistant coach George Neher were content to keep the pigskin away from the visitors in the second half.

Another poor kick — this one for 14 yards, set up the final touchdown. Kingston put the ball in play on the AHS 45, half-way through the fourth session.

Boggs, Dugan and Greg Rios combined to make a first down on the 35. Then Dugan took a handoff and cut to his left. He was aided by a home crushing block, thrown on the 18 by Boggs. Given that block, the speedy Dugan ran into the end zone for the final touchdown. A pass for the extra point was off target.

Albany was at midfield and advancing nowhere fast when time ran out.

GRID JOTTINGS—Though it was a superlative team effort which turned back the visitors, you couldn't overlook the tremendous defensive play of Baltz and Boggs plus the offensive line work of guard Harry Lyons, all 138 pounds of him. Starting center Russ Supplies, one of the returning regulars from the '65 club, was injured on the first play but reserve Jim Esposito was a capable replacement. . . . Watzka, who never played football prior to this game, ran the club like a veteran. His passing was off line but he showed he had the arm. . . . All in all, it was a solid debut and will send the Maroon to New Rochelle next week in a good frame of mind. New Rochelle won its opener, 25-6, and is set to defend its Metropolitan New York championship.

Swats Four Hits As Leaders Sweep Two From Cubs

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It wasn't so many years ago that the New York Yankees made an almost annual excursion into the player market around Sept. 1 for some pennant insurance.

The Yankees are buried in the American League cellar this year, but they're still doing business at the same old stand and the Los Angeles Dodgers certainly are glad.

New York wasn't shopping this year, but selling. It was two weeks ago today that the Dodgers purchased veteran utility man Dick Schofield from the Yankees.

Los Angeles was in second place, one half game behind when the deal was made. The Dodgers are first, 2½ games in front today and Schofield is a major reason.

The speedy infielder stroked four hits, drove in three runs and scored three as Los Angeles strengthened its grip on the National League lead with a 4-0, 4-2 sweep over Chicago Friday.

Pittsburgh beat Atlanta 3-0 on Bob Veale's four-hitter, but lost a half game to the Dodgers despite the victory.

Has 286 Mark
His four hits Friday gave Schofield 12-for-42 as a Dodger, a 286 pace that is a far 54 points higher than his lifetime major league average.

In other National League games Friday, Cincinnati blanked the New York Mets 7-0 and Philadelphia nipped St. Louis 5-4 in 12 innings.

"I know I can't play in the Series," Schofield said, "but I hope I can help them enough in the next nine games to get them into the Series."

Schofield certainly did his part against the Cubs. In the first game he singled twice, driving in one run and scoring twice as Don Drysdale pitched an eight-hitter.

In the nightcap, he drove in the first two Dodger runs with singles and then was hit by a pitch in the ninth inning just before John Roseboro walloped a tie-breaking 15th run homer.

Veale won his 15th game, limiting the Braves to four hits. The tall left-hander struck out 12.

Willie Stargell walloped his 33rd homer with a man on in the first and Donn Clendenon hit his 26th with the bases empty in the sixth for all the Pirate runs.

The Braves played without Joe Torre and Felipe Alou has been out of action since last Sunday with an injured left hand.

The Reds scored six runs in the first inning against the Mets, and it was more than enough for Jim Maloney, who won his 15th. Maloney pitched a five-hitter and struck out 13. Vada Pinson homered for Cincinnati.

Tony Taylor's bases-loaded single in the 12th inning gave the Phillies their victory over St. Louis. Catcher Jim Schaffer drove in four runs for Philadelphia and pitcher Larry Jaster homered for the Cards.

Packers, Rams Meet In NFL Headline Tilt

By KEN HARTNETT
Associated Press Sports Writer

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The defending champion Green Bay Packers battle the upstart Los Angeles Rams Sunday with the winner taking undisputed hold of first place in the National Football League's Western Conference.

The Packers have been highly impressive in whipping the Baltimore Colts and the Cleveland Browns in their first two starts.

They did it with a careful blend of running, Bart Starr's passing and a tenacious defense.

But the thrusts of veteran running backs Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung could have difficulty penetrating the unbeaten Rams' stout front of Lamar Lundy, Dave Jones, Roosevelt Grier and Merlin Olsen.

And Starr, who has completed almost 70 per cent of his passes in the young season, could be in for trouble finding targets in a rebuilt Los Angeles secondary.

The Rams were notoriously poor against the pass in the past. But this year, they have held their first two opponents, the Atlanta Falcons and the Chicago Bears, to a mere 33 per cent completion ratio.

The Packers' defense, perhaps the league's toughest inside the 3-yard line, has had trouble before with Roman Gabriel, the Rams' quarterback. Gabriel led the Rams to a 21-10 victory when the teams last met.

Gabriel has completed 62.5 per cent of his passes. The Rams, who finished last season with a 4-10 record, won three of their last four 1965 games and have continued to progress under new coach George Allen.

BATTING—Dick Schofield, Dodgers, had four hits and drove in three runs in Los Angeles' 4-0, 4-2 doubleheader sweep of Chicago.

Barber Has Workout For Series

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Steve Barber walked away from a no-hitter and stepped into a World Series job.

Barber, Baltimore's sore-armed southpaw, pitched five hitless innings Friday night in the American League championship's 2-0 loss to California.

Manager Hank Bauer, carefully grooming Barber for a World Series assignment, removed him at the start of the sixth inning, and the Angels finally connected against reliever Frank Bertina with two out.

In the seventh, rookie Charlie Vinson's two-run double breaking the no-hit bid and scoreless tie.

After Bertina walked Jose Cardenal and Bobby Knoop, Vinson, brought up from Seattle of the Pacific Coast League last Monday, doubled to center for his first major league hit. The Angels managed only one more safety — a single by Jim Fregoso in the eighth — but the Orioles, who played without five regulars, had no better success against California left-hander Marcelino Lopez.

Lopez allowed only three hits in boosting his season record to 7-14.

Barber, who has been plagued by arm trouble and was seeking his first victory since July 6, struck out six and walked three. Bertina, who has not won a game since May 8, suffered his sixth loss in seven decisions.

Lee Stange pitched a two-hitter as Boston nipped New York 2-1. Don Mincher's grand slam homer helped Minnesota bury Detroit 12-4; Kansas City blanked Cleveland 2-0 on John (Blue Moon) Odom's four-hitter and rookie Hank Allen's three-run homer led Washington past Chicago 5-4 in other AL games.

19th for Mel
Tony Conigliaro's two-run homer in the first inning backed Stange, who yielded a run in the bottom of the first but allowed only one hit the rest of the way, retiring the last 19 Yankees in order. The loss, pitcher Mel Stottlemyre's 19th of the season, tumbled New York deeper into last place.

A crowd of only 1,440 saw the Yankees lose their 46th home game, one more than they had ever dropped in one season at Yankee Stadium since the park opened in 1923.

Mincher hit his bases-loaded homer in the first inning against Denny McLain, Detroit's 19-game winner, who was pounded for eight runs in the three innings he worked. Tony Oliva hit his 24th homer. Tony Uhlender stroked a run-scoring single and pitcher Jim Grant a two-run double in the Twins' four-run third.

The A's snapped a scoreless deadlock in the sixth against Cleveland's Gary Bell, scoring two runs on Bert Campaneris' triple, Rick Monday's single, a ground out and a two-base throwing error by first baseman Bill Davis.

Odom's second shutout victory over the Indians evened his record at 5-5.

Allen, older brother of Philadelphia's Rich Allen, hit his first major league homer off loser Tommy John in the third inning after singles by Ed Brinkman and Ken McMullen. Pete Richter picked up his 14th victory but needed relief help after Tommie Agee homered for the White Sox in the eighth.

Marciano Denies Training Sessions
NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — "The stories about me being in secret training are absolutely untrue," Rocky Marciano, former heavyweight boxing champ, was quoted as saying by the Times-Picayune Friday night.

Marciano was in New Orleans on a business trip.

Recent reports from Europe had Marciano saying he planned a comeback. Marciano told the Times-Picayune that the stories came from a British writer, whom he did not identify.

"I don't think I'm too old to come back if I decided again," Marciano said. He is 43.

Maroon Harriers Top Middletown, 26-33

Those who are writing the early obituaries on the Kingston High cross country team received a severe jolt Friday as coach Jack Gilligan's harriers stormed to their 15th straight league win, 26-33, over a veteran Middletown squad at Dietz Stadium.

Senior Al Drake, the only returning regular, paced the runners. He covered the muddy 2½ mile course in 11 minutes, 38 seconds, beating out Middle ace Tony Ptak by 11 seconds.

However, Drake couldn't do it alone. Gary Boice finished fourth, Gene Ballou was sixth and Larry Flowers seventh.

Also giving good efforts were Bill Brinnier (8th), Jim Gilpatrick (9th) and John Salzman (10th). They are a trio of youngsters and their showing speaks well for the future.

The Maroon harriers swung back into action next Friday when they travel to Monticello.

Rowland Is Honored, Presented With Watch

Clarence S. Rowland, who gave himself untiringly to the promotion of the best in the community, was honored last night at halftime ceremonies of the Kingston High-Albany football game at Dietz Stadium.

A member of the Kingston School Board of Education for 13 years, Rowland worked for quality in Kingston's education program. His first love was athletics but he was interested in all phases of the high school program.

Rev. Dr. David Gaise, pastor of the Redeemer Lutheran Church, was chairman of a committee which tended honors to Rowland.

In making a presentation to both Rowland and his wife, Rev. Gaise closed by saying "We of Kingston, sir, are happy to honor you with this small tribute because you honored us with your self given over many years. As you have left so much of yourself here — may you take with you something of ours, our thanks, our remembrance, our well done, good and faithful servant. May God Bless You."

Rowland received a plaque and a watch. Mrs. Rowland received flowers. The South Carolina resident also received a telegram from the Senator from that state.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies Rowland, who gave a short acceptance speech of thanks, was given a standing ovation by more than 2,000 in attendance.

President Starts Second 1,000 Days In Buoyant Mood

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is swinging into his second "thousand days" in a buoyant mood — despite problems at home and abroad and slippage in the polls.

As of today, Johnson has been in office for 1,037 days. The time span is worth noting because that's exactly how long John F. Kennedy served before the assassination at Dallas in 1963.

Suspect Troubles

Many observers, mindful of polls and problems, might suspect these would be troubled days for Johnson.

Within the week, for example, major public opinion samplings registered a decline in the President's "popularity" rating and — more significant from Johnson's viewpoint, according to associates — an increased dissatisfaction with his management of the war in Vietnam.

Moreover, at least three mass circulation magazines that regularly come to Johnson's attention contained comments this week hardly calculated to gain a favorable reception at the White House.

Also, every one recognizes that the problem of maintaining a stable economy at home and working toward an acceptable solution in Vietnam confront Johnson with vexing difficulties.

Nevertheless, Johnson seems full of confidence, even exuding ebullience.

Has Relaxed Air

Some who met with him privately this week were struck by his easy-going manner, his relaxed air.

In public, too, the President has conveyed much the same impression. Associates said Johnson has reason for confidence: That he's getting good reports from Vietnam, sees a stabilized situation in Latin America, can sense opportunities for progress in Africa with no potential set-back there in view, has had fruitful talks this month with leaders of Burma and the Philippines and, in viewing the turbulent scene in Communist China, is convinced that country faces graver problems than the United States.

Childs Speculation

Some White House reporters did get the impression Thursday that Johnson was a bit ill-tempered when he sternly lectured them about the pitfalls of "total" unreliable, uninformed speculation about his future plans — which he insists he guarded as state secrets until official announcements are made.

But White House aides said they saw no dissembler in the session with reporters. They said Johnson simply was "having some fun" with newsmen and enjoyed the exercise.

In any event, Johnson made another appearance an hour or so later and, all agreed, he couldn't have been in better spirits. The occasion was the signing of the annual Columbus Day proclamation. For this ceremony, a number of prominent Italian-Americans had gathered, including the presidential barber, Steve Martini.

Valuable Aid

Johnson got a laugh in describing Martini as one of his most valued counselors and a "recognized comforter in times of stress and depression."

The chief executive drew more laughs later as he departed from his prepared script to recall an incident when he was a member of Congress.

A visitor to his office, he related, was impressed by the fact that members of his staff kept bottles of "sweet milk" on their desks, to help ease their ulcer pains. The visitor, said the President, asked why the staff had ulcers and Johnson did not.

He recounted that Mary Rathner, who was his secretary at the time, responded: "He gives 'em. He doesn't get 'em."

Death Claims 3 in

Royal, 59, of 77 Willow Street, Wilkes Barre, Pa.

After the impact the Royal car and vehicle driven by Harvey R. Core, 58, of Route 9W, Malden-on-Hudson, collided.

Richmond was trapped in the wreckage of his car. He was extricated by state troopers, deputy sheriffs and an ambulance crew from Doctors Ambulance Service. He was taken to Benedictine Hospital by the ambulance crew and pronounced dead on arrival.

Royal sustained lacerations of the chin and chest injuries. Core suffered lacerations of the nose and other injuries. Both were taken to Benedictine Hospital. Fatums ambulance took the Youngs to the hospital.

Belts Not Used

According to reports seat belts in the cars driven by Young and Richmond evidently had not been used.

The Thruway mishap was the sixth multiple death traffic accident that occurred in Ulster County this year. On Jan. 9 four Westchester County residents were fatally injured in a collision on Route 9W at West Park. Six persons were killed on July 21 in a two-car head-on collision which occurred on Route 209 near Spring Glen.

Three persons were killed in a mishap on Route 9W on Aug. 7, two others lost their lives in a highway crash on Route 209 at Ellenville on the same day, and two others died as the result of injuries suffered in a mishap on Route 209 on Aug. 15.

Safety Play Insures Slam

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

South rises with dummy's queen of spades at trick one but East covers with the king and South wins with the ace.

The simple play at this point is to lay down the ace of trumps. If the king drops South can claim all the tricks. If it doesn't, South will discard his losing spade on one of dummy's high clubs.

The trouble with this line of play is that South will lose his contract if West shows out on that first trump lead.

South has an alternate line of play at his disposal that will guard against that bad trump break. He starts by cashing two high clubs in order to get his spade discard. Then he leads a trump from dummy. If East follows with the deuce, South simply plays low from his own hand.

If West wins with the king or jack, South will pick up the last trump later on. If West shows out, South will cash his ace of trumps and concede one trick.

If East fails to follow to that trump lead, South takes his ace and leads a second trump toward dummy.

This constitutes a perfect safety ty play in the trump suit because it guards against the loss of two trump tricks irrespective of how the trumps divide.

It does lose the contract for South if West holds the singleton king or jack of trumps and East is void of diamonds or against 8-0 or 7-1 club breaks, but the chance of one of these bad breaks is much less than the chance of finding East with all three trumps so the trump safety play is preferable.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The Arizona Governor's Commission on the Status of Women wants the status of men improved.

In its first report, the commission's 33 women members said the lot of men should be helped in two ways:

—Farm workers should be brought under state labor laws which provide minimum work standards.

—Men should be covered by the state equal pay law, which was designed to protect working women and minors.

Three Portuguese

the burning three-story building.

Police carrying sub-machine guns held back a crowd of about 1,000 persons who jammed the tree-shaded street which passes the embassies in Kinshasa, formerly Leopoldville.

The mob started by rushing the building and tossing gasoline over a small Portuguese auto. Then they broke through the heavy iron doors and stormed the upper floors.

Flag Rescued

A Portuguese official rescued the flag but had to use it as a sack for valuable documents.

The Congolese government has claimed the Portuguese mercenaries bases to operate in the neighboring Portuguese territory of Angola in support of a new bid for power by ex-Premier Moise Tshombe.

Radio Kinshasa broadcast an editorial today accusing Portugal of crimes against the Congo — among others that the Portuguese charge d'affaires in Lubumbashi, Elisabethville, was behind the recent attempt on the life of Holden Robert, head of the Angolan revolutionary government in exile. The attack took place in Zambia.

Angolans and Congolese of the lower Congo region are of the same general ethnic group.

Military Situation Tense

The military situation in Kinshasa — formerly Stanleyville — remained tense. Communications were cut between Kinshasa and Kisangani shortly after fighting between national army troops and Katangese mutineers resumed Friday.

An estimated 3,000 Katangese soldiers took control of Kisangani in a July 29 mutiny. They have control of the right bank of the city with the exception of the post office, radio and

Report Racing Cars

Several complaints of motor vehicles racing through city streets early today, were investigated by police. A white car reportedly was seen by residents racing around the block in the vicinity of O'Neil Street and Ten Broeck Avenue, but when police arrived the car had left the area. Other complaints were made by residents of Tremper Avenue, who reported cars racing along the avenue.

bank which were neutralized by French- and Spanish-speaking mercenaries.

The Congolese national army holds the left bank. Fighting resumed Friday in Kisangani three days after Belgium withdrew the remaining military technical assistance stationed there.

Causes of the original mutiny were never made clear. Best reports indicate that the Katangese, who make up a third of the national army, felt they were being treated as second-class soldiers by officers from other regions.

Two Suspended In Trotting Probe

NEW YORK (AP) — The State Harness Racing Commission has suspended indefinitely the licenses of two horse owners who refused to testify or answer questions at a commission hearing Friday.

The pair, Benny Alaimo and Nicholas Seminara, had previously refused to sign waivers of immunity for testimony before the Brooklyn grand jury probing the alleged rigging of harness races at Yonkers, Roosevelt and Monticello Raceways.

The two men were identified as part owners of Redwood Farms Stable which, according to commission records, owns only one horse, Floyd M. In five races during the current Yonkers season Floyd M. has finished last three times, sixth once and fourth once. He was scratched from a sixth race because of reported lameness.

The license suspension means that any horse owned or in any way controlled by either man may not race on a New York harness track and that neither man may attend a harness race in the state.

Strip Phone Lines PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Thieves stripped 39 miles of copper wire worth $3,405 from telephone lines stretching from Glendale to Maricopa, Ariz.

Authorities said the telephone line has been dead since a fire earlier this year.

Cool weather extended from the Great Lakes to New England today and temperatures continued above normal in a large part of the West.

But most of the nation enjoyed pleasant autumn weather as early morning temperatures held at generally seasonable normals across the country.

The mercury hit record breaking levels in the Rocky Mountain area Friday. Temperatures in the 90s were reported from the Southwest to Montana. However, readings dropped rapidly after sunset and mainly were in the 50s or 60s around midnight.

Clear skies and relatively dry air accompanied the comfortable autumn weather in most areas. Light rainfall was confined to the lower Great Lakes and the central Appalachians. A few showers dampened the Northern Plains and the Southern Rockies.

Morning temperatures ranged from 32 degrees at the Marquette County Airport in Michigan to 93 in Blythe, Calif.

A Frenchman Brought the Gypsy Moth to the U. S. A.

Another Frenchman is going to destroy them with the unbelievable invention of a combination of 16 tree saps in the form of syrup — absolutely non-poisonous — acts like quicksand, the more they debate the more they get stuck. Will catch any kind of moth in general, gypsy moth in particular, plus flies, mosquitoes, field mice, etc. One trap—$20 (or on consignment)—will cover up to 1000 acres. Act now, as the corn and apple borers will become moths and lay thru October, to prevent destruction by their caterpillars next spring and summer. Each dollar spent on this invention will save you thousands of dollars. Write or call for further explanation.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Many Will Miss Dr. Grant Morse

Saugerties recently lost one of its most illustrious citizens to the Upstate community of Cortland. Dr. Grant D. Morse, the former Saugerties Central School superintendent for 37 years and the man for whom one of Saugerties' elementary schools is named, died of retirement; gave up his "vacation" after less than three years, and accepted a college appointment.

He is currently residing in Cortland, where he assumed a position on the staff of the State University College there as a professor of education. In his new job, he will be required to teach organization and administration of schools and to supervise cadet teachers, two subjects with which he has more than passing knowledge.

Dr. Morse had a career as an educator for 43 years prior to his retirement here on January 31, 1963. He had spent the last 39 of those years in the Saugerties school system, 37 of them as superintendent and two of them as high school principal. During his years in Saugerties he was extremely active in the local Rotary Club, Lamouree-Hackett Post of the American Legion, Saugerties P-TA, the Lions Club and served as a trustee of the Methodist Church and, for a time, as head of the Selective Service Board during World War II.

He once held the distinction of being the youngest superintendent in the state of New York and was a president of the Eastern Zone of the New York State Teachers Association. His retirement as school head here was the occasion for one of the biggest banquets in local history, when he was feted at a dinner by area teachers. The high esteem in which he was held was exemplified when Saugerties elected to name its new 21-room elementary school, built for $1,130,000 at Carelans Corners, Blue Mountain, in his honor in 1964.

He will be sorely missed locally—this man whose professional life was devoted to the education of the school children of Saugerties and there is no doubt that he will be of inestimable service to the college students of Cortland. Obviously, the boredom of retirement was simply not his cup of tea and it is hoped that when he eventually decides to go on permanent "vacation," he will return to Saugerties again.

At the present time, a series of topographical maps is being prepared from which definite plans for actual development of the Bristol recreation area can be made, if the funds are forthcoming for such development. The beach, picnic area and boat launching facilities at the Saugerties state park can only become realities if funds are definitely made available to complete them through passage of the bond issue.

The "Bristol Recreation Area" here will be the first state park in Ulster County, if and when it is completed, and will also be the only state beach located along the Hudson River.

Name Mayor Cox To Head Chest Drive for $6,500

Mayor Cornelius M. Cox of Saugerties was appointed campaign chairman for the Ulster County Community Chest fund drive for the Town of Saugerties.

At a special dinner meeting last week attended by selected community leaders a complete review of the Chest, its progress and analysis of giving and a challenge for the 1967 campaign was presented by Prescott C. Newell, chest president; Charles E. Raible, campaign chairman and S. Sam Frattini, public relations chairman. The meeting was called by Fabian Russell, John Carnright and Mayor Cox.

Mayor Cox, who is presently recruiting a campaign organization to raise $6,500, the goal for the Village of Saugerties, and with Ferroxcube Corp., a goal of $10,000, with a total township goal of $16,500. The campaign for the entire county will begin on October 1 through 15. An orientation training meeting will be held on Monday at the Town Hall at 8 p. m. The goal for the county is $299,600, which represents the requirements of the 13 agencies for operating expenses for 1967.

Saugerties entered the Chest in 1962 and has been an active supporter. Mayor Cox expressed optimism. The recent YMCA activity to organize a Saugerties unit brings impetus to the campaign, adds incentive for citizens to contribute a fair share for all agencies.

A parade will take place in Saugerties at 12 noon, Oct. 1, which will include floats by the 13 agencies to picture their services to exemplify "One Gift Works Many Wonders," the theme of the parade. The Saugerties High School band, Pamela Davis, Miss Saugerties and the Jayvees will also participate.

Everyone is invited for a free show following the parade in Kingston on Saturday, Oct. 1 at 7 p. m. at Deitz Stadium. Numerous prizes will be awarded to those in attendance and there will be a fireworks display.

Kingston Rated 12th in Listing Of Full Value Tax

Kingston ranks 12th from the top in comparison of full value real estate tax rates in 60 Upstate New York cities, just completed by the Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, a private tax research organization.

The combined city and county tax rate for Kingston, the Survey announced, is $25.96 per $1,000 full value of real property for the fiscal year 1965-66.

Rate is $72.11
The actual tax rate paid, however, is based on assessed value. For 1965-66 that actual rate for combined city and county purposes is $72.11 per $1,000 assessed value, compared with $68.32 for 1964-65, an increase of $3.79. School tax rates are not included.

The analysis can be useful to taxpayers to compare with the proposed 1966-67 rates which soon will be prepared, the Survey pointed out.

This year, taxpayers in 33 of the state's Upstate cities paid higher tax rates on assessed value of their real property for city and county purposes combined than last year. In the remaining cities, taxpayers paid lower rates.

The Citizens Survey noted that although tax rates based on assessed value are the rates taxpayers actually pay, they are not reliable for comparisons of tax burdens between cities. They are based on the value at which the property is assessed on the tax rolls, and this amount varies from city to city as different percentages of the full value of property in each city.

The New York State Board of Equalization and Assessment determines the average percentage of market or full value of taxable real property represented by the assessed valuation in each city. That is the state equalization rate.

By use of this rate, full value tax rates can be computed which show what the tax rates would be if all the cities assessed property at the market or full value as determined by the State Board. These full value tax rates provide the best available basis for comparison of tax rates between cities, the tax research organization stated.

Highest Is Troy

The highest full value tax rate is in Troy where the combined rate totals $37.83 per $1,000 full value. Next highest are Amsterdam with $33.03, Utica with $29.90, Newburgh with $29.81, and Rensselaer, $29.49.

The lowest combined full value tax rate is in Batavia with $10.79. Dunkirk with $13.06, Plattsburgh, $13.70, Corning with $14.29 and Lackawanna with $15.76 are ranked among the five cities with lowest full value tax rates.

The Citizens Public Expenditure Survey said that other reasons for the wide range in tax rates are:

Differences in tax resources — the value of the taxable real property per person.

Differences in quantity and quality of services.

Differences in the amount of revenue from sources other than real property taxation available in the various cities.

The tax research organization pointed out that its study is intended to show the extent of the variation in tax rates, but it does not provide a basis for conclusions as to the causes of those variations.

Ulster GOP Votes Donation to Back County Candidate

Town of Ulster Republican Club at its meeting Thursday evening at Grange Hall, Lake Katrine, unanimously voted to contribute $100 to Ulster County Republican Central Committee in support of the Republican candidates who will be running for office in November.

A date was also set for the Town of Ulster Republican Rally at which time voters of the town will have an opportunity to meet the Republican candidates. The date was set for Friday, Oct. 28. Letters will be sent to all Republican candidates notifying them of the rally date and inviting them to be present.

Named to the Rally Committee was Joseph Lohmaier, chairman; Nick Marino, Donald Parish. The committee was named by President Jack Smith and it was announced that refreshments would be served at the rally.

President Smith announced that town headquarters would be established next to the Hertz Car lot on Albany Avenue Extension in a trailer loaned by Robert Amsler.

Edward Callahan, chairman of the sixth annual picnic committee, reported on the success of the picnic which was held in August. He thanked all who attended to make it an outstanding success and also the members of the committee who worked to make it a success. He stated that the object of the picnic was not to make a profit but to promote sociability, meet candidates and establish good will.

Present at the meeting was H. Clark Bell, Republican candidate for delegate to the constitutional convention.

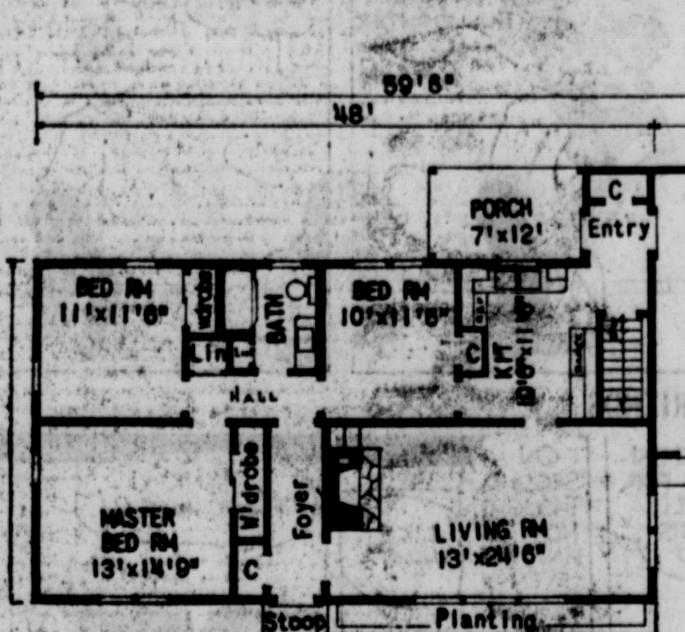

Anthony Cicoria, Republican candidate for the office of town councilman was present at the meeting and thanked the members of the club for the efforts which they had put forth in his behalf. ## New Ranch House Takes Advantage of Economics

By JACK McEENEY

Sometimes I just marvel at the things an architect can do with four walls and a few room partitions, particularly in these days when every penny counts for house-hunting families.

Look what Associated Architects have done in their newest home, "The Archer," for example. They've taken advantage of basic economics, such as rectangular buildings, inside chimney and flat roof for the garage.

—yet when all of these are put together, out comes one of the nicest ranch type houses I've ever seen.

I especially like touches such as the big storage closet beside the garage, the six-light picture window (instead of a large, expensive single pane), the sheltered rear porch, among other things. That old saying about the little things that count is certainly borne out here.

I think everything in "The Archer" is a synonym for the word comfort, from its 13 by 24½ living room, its three bedrooms, to the way the kitchen is arranged for easy food preparation. The dining section of the living room is within paces of the kitchen; and a built-in china cabinet solves the problem of storage, once and for all.

The three bedrooms are good-sized, and have big wardrobes. As you know, many a ranch house of today defeats its purpose by having too little storage space, but you don't find that here. Not only is there an ample linen closet in the hall, but there's a special towel closet in the bath.

The third bedroom is a double-duty room; it is especially designed to serve as a nursery.

Note that one opens to the kitchen—that's so there is a fast way of reaching the nursery when the baby cries out; it happens often enough, whether you like it or not.

You've probably noticed that "The Archer" has a center hall, a feature that is often omitted for one reason or another. But there is good reason why it's included here; takes the burden of traffic out of the living room and keeps it in a hallway.

The kitchen is compact, but a dream of a place to work in; you can tell even from a floor plan. See how the sink is placed beneath a window for cheerful lighting, how the range has a neighboring counter to help in food preparation. It is a variation of the "corridor" type of kitchen, one of the best designs for saving steps.

Now for a glance at the exterior, and then I'll tell you how to obtain blueprints. The low roof of the house, and the flat one of the garage combine to give "The Archer" a ground-hugging appearance that not only looks good but is an aid in landscaping.

Blueprints are available at nominal cost, and may be obtained by filling in the accompanying coupon. They come with basement or without. Both show how the home may be built of brick, wood siding or concrete block.

With your blueprints you will receive at no extra cost a set of specifications to help protect your interest.

Like all other Associated Architects' homes, this too is designed along the lines of highest quality. Plans meet property and construction requirements of the Federal Housing Administration (FHA), and electrical wiring follows the National Electrical Code.

Mnemonics is a system of precepts and rules intended to improve the memory.

who can speak with more authority on Oil Heat's Cleanliness than a leading home builder like Yigal Bash of Mid Point Park, Inc.

Mr. Yigal Bash, one of more than 75 top local builders of fine homes, judges heating systems and fuels from years of qualified, professional experience in the housing construction field. When it comes to choosing a heating system for your home, it pays to take the advice of distinguished authorities like Mr. Bash. "While all fuels are equally clean, modern, precision-engineered oil heating installations, with auxiliary equipment such as electrostatic dust precipitators, humidifiers and de-humidifiers, and air conditioners, can actually assure complete control over dust and dirt and other living-space air problems. We're happy to recommend clean Oil Heat."

Painting Masonry

Beautification is just one reason for painting concrete, stucco and other masonry surfaces. Paint is also used to change the light reflection characteristics, make masonry surfaces smoother and easier to clean, and protect the surface from deleterious chemicals and abrasives. Uncoated brick, stone, stucco and cinder blocks play host to moisture, necessitating more fuel to counteract its clammy dampness in the walls. Special alkali and moisture resistant paints help solve this problem and prevent efflorescence (a build-up of salt-like materials on the surface).

Cutting Cues

It is not difficult to cut wall-board, say home improvement specialists. Straight cuts can easily be made by putting the board face up, scoring it with a sharp knife, and then sawing it. For openings for switchboxes and similar irregular cutouts, a key-hole saw should be used.

Meet Marilyn Horne

A Horne With Great Voice

HOLLYWOOD — The new queen of American opera frowned at her shadow on the cement deck of the swimming pool at her San Fernando Valley home.

Marilyn Horne makes no secret of the fact that she would prefer a slimmer silhouette. But the demands of her very wide vocal range — from a low G sharp to high B — dictate otherwise.

"So," she laughed, "I said to the director, 'Please give me the best camera angles you have.' The director was very sweet. He said to me, 'Marilyn, we're lucky. You have a wonderful face.'"

Credit Jim (Gomer Pyle) Nabors, of all people, for luring Marilyn Horne into her first network television appearance on his Friends and Nabors special on CBS-TV on October 12.

Until Jim asked her, she had turned down all such offers.

"Jim and I have been friends for a long time," she explained, "even before he went on television. We met through a mutual friend, a voice coach. I think Jim is one of the most talented people on television. We sing a duet from La Traviata on the show and he really does it well. He has a legitimate sound. I was surprised and pleased when he asked me to do the show with him."

La Traviata may never be the same after a clowning skit on the show brings together Marilyn, Jim, Shirley Jones, Andy Griffith and Tennessee Ernie Ford.

They decide Violetta, the opera's heroine, should not die so they rewrite the opera and save her life with a miracle drug.

But Marilyn isn't worried about shattering her image because of the spoof.

"Opera is easy to make fun of," says the mezzo-soprano. "I realized that as a prima donna I have an image to live up to. But this didn't worry me because of the way it is treated — it's good fun and Jim and Andy and Ernie and Shirley are such talented people."

Ernie Ford, Marilyn Horne, Jim Nabors and Andy Griffith

Marilyn's career breakthrough came in 1964 when she appeared in "Semiramide" in New York and then made her recital debut two months later in Philharmonic Hall.

"One of the most exciting singers to arrive on the scene in years," the critics agreed.

Trained from childhood for opera stardom, Marilyn spent three years with the Gelsenkirchen Opera in Germany before making her New York debut.

"That's where I got my opera legs," she says. "They spoon-feed you the music and then let you stand on stage and make mistakes until you have conquered them all."

Dan Boone Not Bad Show, Just Silly Treatment

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It is highly probable that a large number of small children went to bed Thursday night under the impression that the American Revolution was won by a crack shot named Daniel Boone and his buddy, an Oxford-educated half-breed Cherokee named Mingo.

NBC's "Daniel Boone" took considerable dramatic license with a yarn about the Indian nations ready to unite at the urging of some underhanded British army officers to drive the settlers out of Kentucky.

This news was upsetting to Mingo, torn between his loyalty to "his people" and to his white brother, Daniel. He was imprisoned by the Indians for his own good, but happily there was a friendly squaw around to tip off Daniel about the plot and free Mingo. And together they foiled the scheme, the Redcoats retreated and presumably Washington was able to get ahead with the revolution.

"Daniel Boone" is not exactly a bad show, it's just a silly trite treatment. And any adult who voluntarily sits through an hour of such nonsense must really be trying to kill time.

Meet Sandy Baron

The Baron Of Brooklyn

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD — The 17-year-old head of a Brooklyn street gang pondered a question.

Should he join his fellow high school dropouts or hit the books?

The answer didn't come quickly to Sandy Baron, whose only frame of reference for the first 17 years of his life was juvenile delinquency and economic hardship in the "Poverty Pocket" section of Brooklyn called Brownsville.

But when it did come, Sandy hit the books, won a scholarship to Brooklyn College and emerged as a New York public school teacher of English.

Today Sandy, whose fame as a Broadway show comedian won him a co-starring role with Will Hutchins in Hey Landlord on NBC-TV, shows you a cigarette lighter memento of his previous teaching career.

It is engraved with the words, "Mr. Cool."

Behind the words is a story reminiscent of the movie "The Blackboard Jungle."

By personal choice, his first teaching assignment was a backward class of underprivileged 16-year-olds. "I was only 20 years old and with the same background of economic hardship, I figured they would be more relaxed with me."

They were but not just for that reason alone. Sandy's unorthodox teaching methods were so successful that in six months the class won the school attendance award.

"They were all poor readers," he explains, "so I decided to remove them from the book area. To teach them tolerance, I took the class to see the movie, 'The Defiant Ones.' Then I had them act out different scenes from the film. To teach them respect of the law, I took them on a tour of the police department, to explain the department's public services. On Sundays, we went to different churches. They could have produced another 'Blackboard Jungle' but they turned out to be the top class in the school."

A natural flair for comedy turned Sandy from teaching to show business, first in night clubs, off-Broadway spots and then on Broadway to share the footlights in plays starring Anthony Quinn ("Tchin-Tchin"), Kirk Douglas ("One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest") with Henry Fonda ("Generation") and Christopher Plummer ("Arturo Ui").

Sandy's off-beat sense of humor—he's noted for his impersonation of a gasoline station pump—has resulted in an album, "I Never Let School Interfere with My Education," which will be released shortly.

The commentary ranges from a young man's first cigarette, his first date, a school medical examination and his first car. Sample Sandy Baron approach to the latter:

"On the first day I drove out into the country, hit a horse—and they shot the CAR."

Berle Roasted

At a Friars Club lunch for Milton Berle, comic Henny Youngman (one of several comics who roasted Berle on the eve of his first show on ABC-TV) said being opposite The Man From U.N.C.L.E. as Berle is (U.N.C.L.E. gets a half-hour head start) is "like opening a hot dog stand in front of St. Patrick's Cathedral on Good Friday."

People* in the "know"
know there's no cleaner heat
than clean
OIL HEAT

*and that includes the majority of tidy Hudson Valley housekeepers!

It's a fact: All three competitive, automatic fuels are equally clean! You can't blame the dust and grease that accumulate on light bulbs on electricity any more than you can blame smudges and streaks over gas registers on that fuel, in a properly-adjusted system. All three fuels burn in a completely-sealed environment.

What, then, are the culprits? Minute particles of dust, dirt tracked in, cooking fumes, smoke — circulation — and degree of heat. The hotter the heating element, the greater the deposit of charred or dirty particles.

Does this mean there are no advantages to choosing one fuel over another?

Well, you could hardly sell that story to the majority of smart Hudson Valley homeowners who have chosen Oil Heat. Now could you?

SOURCE OF THE HEAT HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH HOUSEHOLD DIRT

Discoloration around registers, baseboard units or resistance elements is an accumulation of household dirt—regardless of how immaculate the housekeeper. Such impurities are present in the air in all homes. The air is warmer around the heating elements, and circulates more rapidly than surrounding air. Thus household dirt is deposited more rapidly around heated surfaces. The source of the heat has nothing to do with it!

Dial TV for 'Olympus 7-0000'--Football as You've Never Seen It

By DON ROYAL

New York
"What's that number you're calling?"
"I said OLYMPUS 7-oh-oh-oh-oh!"

There is, as the title song from Richard Adler's new musical goes on to say, no such number in this hemisphere. It exists only on ABC STAGE 67, the new, weekly color series where "OLYMPUS 7-0000" will show on Wednesday, Oct. 12. From 10 to 11 p. m. Eastern Time that night, Olympus 7 is a direct line to the Greek god Hermes.

The man who installed this highly unlikely connection (no area code required) is Richard Adler, whose irreverent mind and lilting music-pen have previously been turned toward the garment industry, in "Pajama Game," and the Great American Pastime—baseball—with "Damn Yankees." For "OLYMPUS 7-0000" Adler decided to apply his own offside attentions to college football, and the NCAA may never be the same.

As composer-lyricist and executive producer for the show, Adler's first draft-choice was Donald O'Connor.

"That may not have showed too much practical football judgment on my part," Adler says, "since O'Connor is not likely ever to show up in the Football Hall of Fame. But I defy the New York Giants or the Los Angeles Rams or anybody else to come up with a better song-and-dance man than Donald. And, for a musical play, I'm more interested in perfect pitch than perfect passes."

Next pick for Adler's television team: one to create envy in the heart of any college coach or professional owner—the services of quarterback Joe Namath and 24 of his New York Jets teammates.

"It's true . . . Namath isn't the greatest song-and-dance man in the world . . . probably not even the second greatest," Adler says. "But for a musical about football—who's going to compete with him?"

Larry Blyden and Phillis Newman complete the show's front-line team, with Fred Clark, Eddie Foy Jr. and Lou Jacobi along to round out the roster.

Exactly what assault does this team plan on the game of football?

"It's a perfectly simple and logical story," says Adler. "It's about an architect who coaches a football team, a Greek god who can't leave bad enough alone, a butcher shop that doesn't sell peacock livers, an alumni association president who does a soft-shoe with a goat, a pretty archaeology professor who sacrifices to Hera, and a college football team that changes from campus clowns to conference champs. The sort of story you could read in the newspaper sports pages any day."

When Adler's tongue is not pressed quite so far into his cheek, he explains those odd elements this way:

"Donald O'Connor plays Hermes messenger to the gods. Phillis Newman is the archaeology professor, engaged to Larry Blyden, who is a student architect.

FOOTBALL AS SHE NEVER WAS — "OLYMPUS 70000" with DONALD O'CONNOR as the Greek God Hermes, and PHILLIS NEWMAN, LARRY BLYDEN co-starring. The ABC STAGE 67 production airs Wednesday October 12 at 10-11 p. m.

"In order to make a few dollars so they can marry, Blyden takes on the thankless task of coaching the utterly inept football team at New England College. His efforts in that direction are disastrous until Phyllis, with the aid of a prayer bowl she picked up in Athens, calls upon the Greek gods for help—and finds O'Connor standing in her room, ready to help.

"He helps, all right—but his price is a good deal higher than Phyllis is prepared to pay. (As he explains to her in the show: 'Those whom the gods would destroy, they first make a success.') how he helps and why he helps—well, you'll have to see the show."

This is the first television venture for Adler in 8 years. After his phenomenal success with "Pajama Game" and "Damn Yankees," both on Broadway and in Hollywood, he wrote a television special, was very dissatisfied with the results, and vowed he would confine his television activities in the future to turning on his own set.

"Let's just say that Broadway offered me much more freedom, both as a writer and as a producer," says Adler.

Adler stuck with his vow, writing "Kwamina" for Broadway, preparing two other major musicals for the stage ("A Mother's Kisses," based on Bruce Jay Friedman's novel of that title, and "When In Rome," based on the movie "Roman Holiday"), and producing and writing political matter for both the late President Kennedy and for President Johnson.

Like many creative talents who have avoided television, his interest in the medium was revived when Leonard H. Golden-son, president of American Broadcasting Companies, Inc., promised "A new program of some sort—a creative program innovation—which in and of itself will represent a departure from existing patterns."

That promised program became the ABC STAGE 67 series of specials, and when Adler was approached by Golden-son to write for the series, he agreed.

"Mr. Golden-son promised me all the freedom, the time and the funds to do the best show within my power," Adler has said, "even to the extent of giving me full responsibility as executive producer. It was an offer I couldn't turn down."

With this sort of artistic blank check in his hands, Adler began looking at potential subjects and settled on a short story by George Bradshaw, best known for his Saturday Evening Post stories. Adler had been fascinated by one called "How Like A God" which concerns a Greek god and a very vine-able college football team.

"I had always liked the story," Adler says, "but I knew it wasn't right for Broadway or for a movie; the length required would have meant stretching the story all out of shape. But it was perfect for a television hour."

Adler recruited Jerome ("My Sister Eileen") Chodorov, with whom he was already writing a Broadway musical, to collaborate in adapting the story.

Willard Levitas, with The Defenders and TW3 among his many credits, joined the team as producer. Stanley Prager, who directed "The Love Song of Barney Kempinski," the offbeat opener for the STAGE 67 series, and Gordon Rigsby, an experienced tape director, came in, and "Olympus 7" was ready to roll.

The record industry has welcomed this return of Adler, the television dropout. His score for "OLYMPUS 7-0000," arranged by jazz great Ralph Burns and sung by O'Connor, Phyllis Newman, Larry Blyden and Eddie Foy Jr., has been released as an album by Command Records.

"Oddly enough, the title was one of the biggest problems we had," Adler remembers. "I was originally going to call it 'OLYMPUS 7-1212,' but the telephone company objected — it seems that it's somebody's phone number. After that, every number I came up with was rejected because somebody, somewhere, was listed under the number. We finally settled on 'OLYMPUS 7-0000' because nobody, anywhere, will answer when you dial that."

"Unless, of course, all the other elements are present—for instance, a girl as pretty as Phyllis Newman in front of a prayer bowl—and you get Mt. Olympus. I can't guarantee that you will, but I certainly can't guarantee that you WON'T."

The real New England College graciously offered no objection to having their name applied to the worst football team in the history of the game. ((Since the real school doesn't HAVE a football team, they are not overly sensitive in that area.)

After his first experience as an actor, Namath told visitors that, unlike his contemporary, Jimmy Brown, he has no desire to give up the gridiron for the footlights.

The telephone company may deny the existence of an OL 7-0000—they would probably call it 212 657-0000 anyway — but Wednesday, Sept. 28, anyone with a television set can testify that it is, most definitely, a working number.

And it's not even a toll call.

There's Poetry at Sunset

By BILL BYERS

NEW YORK. — Don Quine, smiling and all buttoned-up in his Sunday best Virginian costume, was not a bit uncomfortable in the English Grill at Rockefeller Center.

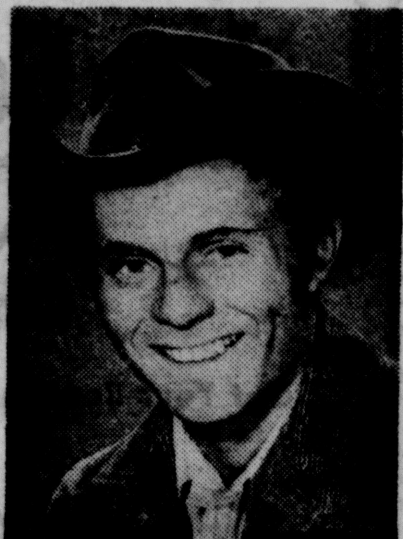

His hair, long and blond (much brighter than when he played the ill-fated Joe Chernak on Peyton Place), he was back where his acting days started.

However, the young man gave a passing glance to the outside skyscrapers and said he didn't miss them at all. Before he "made good" in Hollywood he was just another struggling New York actor, working as a bank teller to pay the rent.

"I was so bloody young when I was here," he said, recalling when he used to write poetry. When he was a high school student in his native Fenville, Mich., he even won a poetry contest, writing about life and death and such.

As a new regular on The Virginian—he plays Stacy, Charles Bickford's grandson—he doesn't have time to write; only to ride.

Fortunately for Don his summers as a youth were spent in Texas. He now takes to a horse easier than he does to a pen.

DON QUINE

"But don't look at me as if I was a real cowboy. Unless I get a good horse, I'm in trouble. Couple of years ago I played

Hermes, (DONALD O'CONNOR) and PHILLIS NEWMAN, in a moment of "OLYMPUS 70000" RICHARD ADLER'S original musical for ABC STAGE 67. The Show, which co-stars the New York Jets in a football fantasy, airs Wednesday October 12—10-11 p. m.

Billy the Kid on Rawhide with a horse that was out of its mind and I was in real trouble," he said.

So far, so good on The Virginian. The 26-year-old actor has managed to stay in the saddle and according to his agent, Stewart Cohn, Don has impressed the chiefs of Universal Pictures, which has him under a long contract.

As soon as The Virginian gallops into its final sunset the studio wants him for leading roles in leading pictures.

Married to an heiress (whom he and NBC-TV refuse to identify), Don sees the future as an uncomplicated one. He will ride in Hollywood for as long as good acting assignments take him. When those days are over, he will return to poetry again.

Gleason Glow

Sheila MacRae is not too happy with the red hair Jackie Gleason wants for her role as Alice Kramden on The Honeymooners. And neither are most of Sheila's friends, who don't feel she is flattered by the color. "I call it my Gleason Glow," Sheila commented.

Tricky Pun

For those who like puns: Laredo has an episode coming up with the title: "The Bitter Yen of General Ti."

TELEPHONE HOUR PREMIERE—Metropolitan Opera baritone John Reardon and soprano Judith Blegen take a break during the filming of a sequence from the opera, "Pelleas et Melisande," which will be shown on the Bell Telephone Hour, Sunday, September 25, at 6:30 P.M., over NBC-TV. This is the first of a series of Telephone Hour programs in a completely new format.

New Look for Telephone Hour

The Bell Telephone Hour will have a completely new look when it opens its 27th season on Sunday, September 25. The hour-long color show, first of 14 on-location documentaries featuring outstanding musical events and personalities, will be presented on NBC-TV at 6:30 p. m.

The premiere, titled "A Man's Dream: The Festival of Two Worlds," was filmed this past summer in Spoleto, Italy, during the festival's ninth season. The show presents a behind-the-scenes study of the world-famous festival, founded by composer Gian Carlo Menotti, and includes highlights from its many musical activities.

One part of the program is devoted to excerpts from Debussy's opera, "Pelleas et Melisande," which opened the festival. John Reardon of the Metropolitan Opera and Judith Blegen of the Nuernberg Opera in Germany sing the title roles.

Other highlights will be a sequence from Verdi's "Requiem" conducted by Zubin Mehta, Thomas Schippers and the Symphony of Trieste in a performance of Beethoven's "Seventh Symphony," cellist Jacqueline duPre, and pianist John Browning with the Beaux Arts String Quartet. In addition, Sviatoslav Richter's appearance in one sequence, filmed during a noonday concert, marks the Russian pianist's debut on American television.

Has to Be Watched

Bill Cosby, the I Spy costar, says the reason he spends his few free days doing personal appearances is because "every so often I just gotta stand up in front of an audience and feel them watch me. How else am I going to progress as an actor and comedian if I don't get audience reaction. I can't get it from ratings and samplings and pats on the back. The only way is to stand up and be recognized."

Gean Carlo Menotti, Bob Drew, producer of the Festival of Two Worlds and Barry Wood

Meet Barry Wood

Shooting Bell From the Hip

By BILL BYERS

NEW YORK—There is going to be a new look to the durable Bell Telephone Hour according to its executive producer, Barry Wood, a bulky, friendly, middle-aged man with a haystack of gray hair.

"We're shooting it from the hip," he said the other day while tearing into a giant-sized steak. "We're going to put a little life in the old girl even if it kills us."

The "old girl" made its debut on radio 26 years ago. And Wood has been guiding it on television almost since its first show in the spring of 1959.

Up until this season, the NBC-TV musical series operated out of New York where a parade of pop and classical entertainers trotted into view as if they were giving concert performances. Now the Bell Telephone Hour is going around the world using hand-held cameras to capture its artists on location.

First example of the "new look" will be on display Sunday with a film report of composer Gian Carlo Menotti's "Festival of Two Worlds" in Spoleto, Italy. In future weeks will come intimate views of the Berkshire Festival, a musical tour of San Francisco, a portrait of Van Cliburn and the International Jazz Festival.

About the Menotti show, Wood, who once sang on the old Hit Parade radio series, said his cameras followed the composer all over Spoleto. Viewers will see Menotti engaged with singers Shirley Verrett, Judith Blegen and John Reardon; conductors Thomas Schippers and Werner Torkanowsky, and pianist Sviatoslav Richter.

Wood admitted the new format would cut down on the amount of music Bell fans have become accustomed to. There will be no more than 20 to 25 minutes of music per hour show.

The producer said the reason for the change was to attract a bigger and better audience. Wood feels that too many "opinion makers" have quit watching television because they have grown tired of sterile formats.

Obviously tired from the big change, with all the travel involved, Wood said Bell would offer fewer shows this season.

"If we did one every week we'd be muttering idiots," he said. "So, we'll do just 15 — and they'll all be exciting, musical happenings."

CHIPS & BLOCKS

In recent years, the entertainment world has been steadily infiltrated by new faces bearing famous names—the show business-minded offspring of many long-established stars. Infiltration seems to be escalating to invasion as the new television season gets under way. Several of the top new shows are featuring chips off the old blocks in starring roles. Here are three of them.

Looking more like father in the latter's heyday than no-longer-so-gaunt father, right, looks today, David Carradine is ABC-TV's Shane, series based on the classic gunfighter movie. Father John alternated for years as a cadaverous-groaning movie villain and Shakespearean stage star.

There's also a family resemblance between Noel Harrison, appearing in NBC-TV's The Girl From U.N.C.L.E., and father Rex, right. Noel at first tried to avoid acting, but five years ago drifted into television and stage work in England.

Ask TV Scout

NAME GAME—Is Mike Douglas, who hosts the daytime variety show, the same Mike Douglas who used to appear on the old Jack Paar show with Elaine May? —M. S. D. Haubstade, Princeton, Ind.

No. You've got your Mikes confused. Mike Nichols was Miss May's comedy partner. He is currently busy as a film and Broadway director.

PALE LOOK—Why did Jimmy Dean look so sick on his last program? Will he be back this season? —A. E. C., Stillwater, Minn.

The country-western singer is in good health. He was disappointed ABC-TV didn't choose to bring back his network show this season. Expect him to pop up in guest appearances.

TONGUE TWISTER—Is Peggy Cass tongue-tied or does she talk through her nose just to be silly? —L. A. M., San Antonio, Tex.

The To Tell the Truth panelist regards herself as a comedienne. Other members of her family talk just like Peggy, by the way.

ILLYA'S PALS — How dare you say girls don't prefer David McCallum. Reason he doesn't have love scenes on The Man From U.N.C.L.E. is that no girl is good enough for him! —Miss K. R., St. Paul, Minn.

The real reason is that the NBC-TV series script writers don't write him romantic scenes. They want to keep his image as a loner.

Bright-eyed Marlo Thomas stars in ABC-TV's That Girl. She launched her career by going to London, where father Danny Thomas, bottom, is scarcely known, to prove she could stand on her own — and won raves for her stage performance in the play, "Barefoot in the Park."

TV Questions And Answers

BELIEVABLE COUPLE—Are Elizabeth Montgomery and Dick York of Bewitched man and wife in real life? Is their baby on the ABC-TV series their own? —Elizabeth Rhodes, Key West, Fla.

Liz and Dick are married, but not to each other. Her husband is director William Asher, father of their two children, William, 2, and Robert, 1. Dick's wife is a former childhood sweetheart, Joan Alt. Their children are Kim, 13, Amanda, 12, Stacie, 10, Christopher, 6, and Matthew, 5. The baby, Tabatha, on Bewitched is played by several infant "actors."

ROBERT WOLDERS

A Dutchman Born To the Public

HOLLYWOOD — The tall, handsome man is wearing the star of the Texas Rangers on a purple velvet shirt trimmed with lace.

But this is no dude who is joining Neville Brand and Company this fall in the second season of NBC-TV's Laredo. His character name is Eric Hunter. He is an extremely agile man with the fastest draw in the west and a faster line in five languages with the ladies.

His passion for clothes matches his passion for the ladies and even Robert Wolders, the actor creating the new Laredo character, is laughing about the array of fancy duds he will be wearing in the series.

"They've given me 18 different wardrobe changes," he grins. "I have seven or eight changes in every show. In one show I even excuse myself and change clothes just before a gunfight."

The quick change gives Neville Brand one of those broad double takes and the line: "How did you have time to change?"

"There's no time to explain now," replies Eric.

And that, as far as Wolders knows, will be the only explanation ever given for his fast change act. "The show this season," he explains, "is going very far out, almost preposterous."

The ladies of Laredo and environs who flip over the new Ranger will have company, we suspect, from the ladies in the show's audience because of Robert Wolders' classic profile and European charm.

He is Dutch, born in Rotterdam, but the Laredo scripts identify him only as European. He's a graduate of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts who turned to acting after receiving a BA degree in psychology. While working for his MA he became interested in psychodrama, the therapy that involves the mentally disturbed acting out their conflicts.

Before starting the series he completed roles in two Universal released movies, "Beau Geste" and "Tobruk."

But the study of psychology, he admits, is no help to acting. "You shouldn't be that much aware of the mind," he says. "Acting is purely emotional."

As a boy of three, he and his family survived the Nazi bombing of Rotterdam, one of World War 2's most devastating attacks on a city's civilian population.

But he remembers, hunger, not fear. "During the raid my father suddenly missed me in the cellar beneath our home. He says he found me, sitting on the front steps, wide eyed in excitement about the 'fireworks.' This I don't remember but I do remember 1944 and 1945. We were always hungry."

Queen Visit

Judy Carne, star of Love on a Rooftop, had her parents visit her from the family home in Northampton, England. The elder Carnes fell so in love with Southern California they had a California ranch house, complete with air conditioning, built in Olde English-looking Northampton. When the Queen visited the area, her party made a detour to see what Judy calls "an eyesore."
